Usual observance of Columbus Day in Lowell—Knights of Columbus Attend Mass at St. Peter's Church—Football Championship Game Features Sporting Program

Columbus day, perpetuating the memory of Christopher Columbus, discoverer of America long centuries ago when sailing the seven seas then uncharted, was like flying in the face of certain death, was celebrated in Lowell today almost like every other holiday, being principally marked by a practical cessation of all business and pleasure.

With the holiday falling on Friday there was a more or less general exodus from the city for over the week-end, inasmuch as all the big manufacturing plants closed last night until Monday morning.

Religiously the day had particular significance to the members of Lowell council, Knights of Columbus, who met 500 strong at the club in Dutton street at 8:30 o'clock and marched to St. Peter's church to attend mass celebrated in honor of the day. In their continued to Page 10

It is reported from Boston that an examination of the torso will be made tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the office of Dr. M. L. Alling, medical examiner of Lowell, by physicians employed by counsel for Drs. William M. Robb of Boston and Daryl H. Swope of Brockton, who are indicted in connection with the alleged murder of Mrs. Wolschendorf. The examination will be made in the presence of Medical Examiner Alling of Lowell and Medical Examiner George Burgess McGrath of Boston.

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press)—For the first time since the 1923 world series began, Gotham today really was in baseball fever.

Lured by the call of the mighty bat of Babe Ruth, coaxed on by the knowledge that at least a New York Yankee team could stand toe to toe and take it with a New York Giant outfit, the town passed from the semi-lethargic condition in which it has viewed previous installments of the fratricidal strife and went baseball mad.

In the two previous games, neither the great Yankee Stadium, nor the imposing Polo Grounds was filled. The bugs came to see a superb team—in the Giants—tuned in with precision and a mighty hero—Babe Ruth—go down to ignominious failure.

The fans came and saw. But they had seen before the smooth functioning of the National League's Manager McGraw directing his team to victory and they had seen the glorious Bambino groan as he struck out or non-bled to the infield.

But they had not seen two great teams fighting neck and neck, now with a deft rapier like lunge, again with a blazing attack. When the word went out last night that Babe Ruth finally had arrived as a ball-punching world's series hitter and that the series stood at a dead heat, the fans caught on. They grasped the old world's series

BLAMES TAXATION FOR HIGH CAR FARES

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 12. (By the A. F.—Municipal, state and federal officials were vigorously assailed for their extravagance in a special tax report made today to the American Electric Railway convention here. William H. Maltbie, of Baltimore, is chairman of the committee making it.

The report declared that owing to governmental extravagance, in part, every workingman in the United States is paying an average tax of $4 a year which is hidden in his car fare. This is about two-thirds of a cent out of every fare.

"One of the most serious problems of the day is that of municipal, state and federal extravagance," the report said. The check upon public extravagance is to be found only in a demand on the part of the public for economy, and one of the first and most important steps in the development of this public demand is the elimination of indirect taxation. Approximately 10 per cent. of the gross receipts of the street car companies in the United States is devoted to some form of public burden. The average fare at the present time is 6.92 cents so an average of nearly two-thirds of a cent out of every street car fare collected in the United States is an indirect tax upon the street car users for the benefit of the general public.

"The average workman riding to and from his work 300 days in the year pays in this one item an indirect tax of approximately $4.

"If this indirect tax and other numerous indirect taxes which he pays could be bundled together with the relatively small direct tax which he is called upon to meet, labelled, and known to him as a tax, we would find a pressure for public economy making itself evident at the polls in unmistakable fashion.

Among the "absolutely" taxes pointed out by the committee is one for paying between car tracks which had its inception in horse car days when the animals hoofs destroyed cedar block pavements between the rails.

"Car riders do not realize, the report declared, that state and federal bodies which fix the car fares of the country, figure all of these taxes in when arriving at a fair fare.

DISCUSSION OF NEW STREET LIGHTING

The board of public service met yesterday afternoon in routine session, spending most of its time in a discussion of new street lighting.

Lighting for the new Lundberg street bridge again came up and Councilor Thomas McFadden appeared before the board urging speedy action. Percy J. Wilson, representing the Lowell Electric Light Corp., was present to explain the special type of light to be used on the bridge, of which there will be six. He was asked to prepare an estimate of cost for presentation to the board at its next meeting.

The question of better illumination at the junction of Chelmsford and Thordike streets and spotlights for traffic posts downtown also were referred to Mr. Wilson for investigation and report.

Two conferences were arranged for next Thursday afternoon. The first, at 4 o'clock, will be with representatives of the Eastern Massachusetts Railway Co. and representatives of the Locks and Canals for the purpose of discussing where the responsibility lies for repairing streets that cross canals. The second, at 5.30 o'clock will be with members of the park commission to discuss a program of work jointly outlined for both boards.

A. F. OF L. DELEGATES TO ELECT OFFICERS TODAY

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 12. (By the Associated Press.)—Election of officers and selection of the next convention city was today's principal business of the American Federation of Labor. El Paso and Detroit were the principal contenders for the next convention. Samuel Gompers, who has headed the federation since its organization in 1881, except during one year, was declared by delegates generally to be certain of re-election and other officers also were expected to be retained.

The convention has straightened a dispute between the quarry workers union and the union of stationary engineers employed in quarries, upholding the contention of the engineers' union for separate jurisdiction. This dispute arose as a result of a strike at Barre, Vt., and Concord, N. H.

A group of resolutions favoring remedial legislation asked by unions of government employees was approved.

of the meeting, at which there were 21 boys present, seven of whom have been scouts and one of whom is a first class scout holding merit badges. The roster lacks 12 names to complete the quota and the troop expects to have these by the next meeting on Monday night.

HELD DANCING PARTY
An informal dancing party was held last night at the Highland club under the auspices of the Stratfords and over 150 couples attended. Dancing started at 8.30 o'clock and continued until 1 a. m. to the strains of Wreck's orchestra of Cambridge. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Edward J. Fivnan and Walter Connors.

SERIOUS FOOD RIOTS

Windows of Stores Smashed and Provisions Seized by Enraged Demonstrators

WIESBADEN, Hesse-Nassau, Oct. 12.—Windows of food stores here were smashed and provisions seized by demonstrators who became enraged when the merchants demanded payment in French francs. The local commission has promised to take measures designed to hold prices down.

COLOGNE, Oct. 12.—A number of casualties including at least one fatality occurred here late yesterday when crowds aroused because of the high prices began attacking and plundering warehouses and food shops and became engaged in clashes with the police.

In several instances wagons and automobiles hauling food supplies through the streets were attacked and the provisions carried away.

BODIES OF U. S. AIRMEN ON HOMEWARD JOURNEY

HAYRE, Oct. 12.—The bodies of Lieut. Olmsted and John W. Shontaw, the American aviators killed in the Gordon Bennett cup competition at Brussels late last month, were taken on board the U.S.S. Sapelo today for removal to the United States. With them were the bodies of fourteen American soldiers who fell in Flanders during the war. Their removal to the vessel was carried out with a befitting ceremony a detachment of French infantry under arms rendering honors, the trumpet sounding the last post and the French troops then lining up on the quay with comrades of the dead Americans carried the flag-covered coffins aboard.

The plain faced and they ribbed iron clubs are ok, in golf.
The slotted and punched faces iron clubs are not ok.
The American golfing father, taking their cue from the British, as is their custom, have legislated the so-called trick clubs out of championship tournaments.
As all golfers know, the slotted and punched clubs enable the player to impart a back spin to the ball without unusual effort.
It is possible to put back spin on a ball with any kind of club, plain or otherwise, but the proposition entails a certain amount of science, a deft movement of the wrists which players of limited ability find hard to master.

SWEDISH DIPLOMAT ACCUSED OF SPYING DENIES HIS GUILT

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 12. (By the A. P.)—Polke Cronholm, Swedish charge d'affaires in Mexico City in 1917, who is credited with having acted in the interest of Germany in the passage of the Zimmermann telegram, has given out a statement in which he denies his guilt. He declares he did not play the spy for Germany during the war, but that in delivering cables in code to the German legation in Mexico he was acting upon the instructions of his superior, K. A. Wallenberg, then Swedish minister of foreign affairs.

Mr. Cronholm's statement says in part: "Upon my return home I learned of the false rumor that I, as Swedish charge d'affaires in Mexico, was guilty of acting as a spy for Germany during the war, and that as a result I was recalled from my post."

"Referring to this latter allegation, which is ridiculous and false, I have already declared publicly that my alleged relations with the German government had nothing to do with my recall."

"As to the charge that in Mexico I acted as a German spy, I declare that the only cause for these rumors and accusations is to be found in that I, as later did also my successor, in obedience to orders from my superior, K. A. Wallenberg, then Swedish minister for foreign affairs, delivered a number of cables in code to the German legation in Mexico City, which I had no knowledge of. Responsibility in this case, which led to such disastrous consequences for Sweden, rests upon Mr. Wallenberg and not upon me, his agent."

"My purpose today, on my return home, is to free myself of these suspicions. I stand accused of having acted as a German spy during the war, while chief of the Swedish legation in Mexico City, and during my confinement in Mexico I had no chance to rehabilitate myself."

"Such were my relations to the German legation in Mexico during the war. My notes in the archives of the Swedish legation in Mexico City record the receipt of these cables from Mr. Wallenberg.

"My recall as Swedish charge d'affaires at Mexico City was not the result of complaints made by the Swedish residents of Mexico. Such complaints, even if justified, do not entail the sudden recall of a chief of legation without his knowledge. The Swedes in Mexico made no complaints of me because there were none to be made. The foreign minister has told me no complaints were made."

"Nor did my recall result from any kind of pressure on the part of the American government owing to any relations with the German government. I never have had relations with any government other than the Swedish government. Nor did I transmit to President Carranza any notes other than those I handed him in the name of my own government, officially or by special order."

"My recall from Mexico was an act of revenge on the part of the then foreign minister, Mr. Wallenberg, because a report made by me and other diplomats several years ago resulted in his brother, G. O. Wallenberg, then Swedish minister to Japan, being publicly reprimanded by his government."

The state department at Washington, on Sept. 13, 1917, gave out the translation of an alleged letter from Heinrich von Eckhardt, then German minister at Mexico City, to Chancellor von Bethmann Hollweg, saying that Cronholm, in Mexico City, had entered into close relations with the German legation; that he was the only diplomat through whom information of "hostile camps" could be obtained; that he acted as an intermediary for official diplomatic intercourse between the German legation and the chancellor and recommending that he be given a German decoration.

Von Eckhardt immediately denied from Mexico City that he had ever sent communications through Cronholm, or recommended him for a decoration, and on Sept. 20 Cronholm, in the same city, denied von Eckhardt had offered him a decoration, or that he had ever furnished von Eckhardt information gathered among the enemies of his country in Mexico.

Despatches last October said "Cronholm had returned to the Swedish capital from Mexico and was engaged in preparing a defense of his alleged actions in Mexico.

JERITZA IS GOLDEN VOICED SOPRANO

Maria Jeritza, the golden voiced soprano of the Metropolitan, whose sensational rise to stardom in one night at that opera house has been the talk of the musical world ever since last November, will make her first concert tour of four cities, this month, under the direction of the Metropolitan musical bureau, the great concert agency which was exclusive manager of Caruso.

When Mme. Jeritza sings here in the Auditorium October 24 music lovers will have an opportunity of viewing in person the woman who is declared to be the most beautiful prima donna alive. They will also have the opportunity of hearing a voice which has caused the cautious and conservative critics of the New York daily papers to go into ecstasies and use superlative phraseology which has remained out of their vocabularies for many years.

OLD TIME FABRICS

WOOD MILL WORSTEDS

Of Lawrence, Mass.

These goods bought two weeks ago direct from the commission house of Frize & Co., Summer Street, Boston, Mass., lower in price than anything I have seen in six years, lower in price than any buyer of woolens can purchase them a month from today.

No other tailor or clothier in New England today can talk about an all wool and worsted BLUE SERGE suiting this weight under $35.00; and I contend these fabrics compare very favorably for weight and quality of merchandise with suits selling around $40.

For a limited time the merchandise offered in this fall display is very exceptional; a small deposit is all that is necessary now—the balance when you need the garment. Many of these bolts are now displayed in my windows, around eighty yards in each piece. Be sure and see them, for this is an opportunity to effect a very considerable saving.

Incidental to this sale I also wish to formally invite my customers and the general public to visit my store and see the new overcoat styles that the fashion experts and leading designers declare are correct and proper for this season.

I will have on display eighty-five ready-to-wear garments just completed in my own workshop. Made in the latest models for this season. In these special samples are coats for the young sporty man and garments for the conservative dresser. I make these up in the dull months of August and September. I use them for window display, or you can purchase any one of these garments at any time when you cannot wait to have a garment made. I find them most convenient when a customer is in doubt as to what style coat would please him best. He tries on the different models, tells the designer which one he likes, and we cut him the garment he wants. No obligation to buy—we will be glad to give you any information you may desire.

ALL NIGHT PARTY IN COLONIAL HALL

A costume party was held last night and this morning in Colonial hall by the Lowell division, National Fraternal Society of the Deaf, and was featured by a drawing contest in which the prizes were several valuable gold articles.

Dancing was enjoyed until 1 o'clock this morning and the odd costumes worn by the participants added color to the scene. At 1 o'clock supper was served and from 2 o'clock until 5 o'clock this morning games were played.

Many visitors from out-of-town were present and they remained in town today after the close of the party as guests of the local members.

The winners in the drawing contest were as follows: James Gill of Ludlum street, first; W. Carpenter, 52 Fay street, second; Leon Coolens, 33 Aiken avenue, third; W. Maron, Fitchburg, fourth; Philippe David, 49 Kirk street, fifth; E. Russell, Lawrence, sixth; W. Bradley, Gorham street, seventh, and George Curtis, 431 Bridge street, eighth.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Colin C. McCord, chairman; J. Bennett McMahon, Myles C. McGeever and Frank D. Williams.

C. M. A. C. TO CONDUCT CONCERT AND DANCE DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

In an endeavor to double its membership the C.M.A.C. will next Tuesday start a membership campaign, to last six months. A general committee has been appointed to make arrangements for the drive and will report at next Tuesday's meeting of the organization. As an inducement to members the society is offering prizes in the form of a trip to Montreal, the conditions being that each member who brings in thirty applications will be entitled to a trip to the Canadian metropolis at the expense of the association. The society now numbers close to 1500 members and it is hoped before the campaign is brought to a close that number will at least be doubled. The chairman of the general committee is William Treutler. The committee will meet in the near future and will appoint team captains to conduct the drive.

PRE-WEDDING SHOWER

LOWELL SOLONS VISIT BROTHER COUNCILOR

Several members of the city council today took the opportunity afforded by the holiday to go to Manchester to visit Councilor J. A. N. Chretien at the Sacred Heart hospital. The councilor continues to improve, but will not be able to return home for another week or more.

While in the New Hampshire city this afternoon the visiting councilors plan to drop over and give a few cheers for the high school football eleven in its hard game against Manchester high.

SAY FRENCH IMPEDING RESUMPTION OF WORK

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press)—An official telegram from Essen to the effect that contrary to French reports, labor leaders and the population generally are deeply concerned about the situation in the Ruhr. The opinion is said to prevail in well informed quarters, that the French policy of negotiating with individual groups is impeding the resumption of work.

If the economic life of the occupied region is to be resumed, the statement asserts, both Germany and France must do their utmost to avoid causes of further disturbance.

The political situation is still in a state of extreme uncertainty. With the final vote on Chancellor Brüning's authorization law postponed until Saturday, the coalition ministry faces another crisis, for should the measure fail, as seems possible, the cabinet would doubtless be forced out.

The Sullivan home-coming fund has gone over the $2000 mark. Yesterday's mail at the chamber of commerce brought checks for $10 from James E. Sullivan and for $25 from Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor of St. Michael's church.

The total of the fund is now $2012.05 and persons intending to subscribe who have not already done so are asked to send in their donations at once. It is hoped to have $2000 to make a purse for the Lowell man who swam the English channel after expenses incidental to the reception are met.

A check for $10 from the Boston Auto Supply Co. was received in the early mail this morning.

TWO WOMEN AND MAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

GRAFTON, Oct. 12.—Two women and one man were killed and another man was slightly injured on the Providence road here last night, when the light touring car in which they were riding from Millbury to their homes in Worcester, swerved from the road, crashed into a tree and was hurled into a lumber pile 12 feet away. The dead were James Ryan, Pleasant street, Worcester; his wife, Alice, and Mrs. Cornelius Sullivan, 19 Chandler street, Worcester. The injured man is Cornelius Sullivan.

All were thrown from the car. Ryan landed 15 feet away and his neck was broken. Although the car was owned by Sullivan, Ryan was believed to have been driving when the accident occurred. Sullivan sustained only minor bruises and although dazed by the tragedy, identified the victims and said that the two couples had taken a ride to Millbury. In the wreckage of the car was found a package containing a new suit for one of Ryan's three children, now motherless.

The instant of the crash tore the whole body from the chassis of the automobile.

"GREAT OAKS FROM LITTLE ACORNS GROW"

"Start with a coin—end with a barrel of money," is the small but significant inscription on a miniature "barrel" bank to be donated to depositors in the Middlesex National bank, beginning tomorrow. A special allotment of the little safe deposit boxes—a perfect metal reproduction of a barrel—arrived at the Middlesex National this week and caused a great deal of favorable comment among the employees. All denominations of coins may be placed in the little bank. A special contraption in the interior of the instrument, similar to combinations on larger safes, renders it impossible of opening without the use of a key. It is ornamental as well as useful.

Firmly believing in the encouragement of thrift, officials of the Middlesex National went to great expense to secure the unique design, which is bound to make a hit with the savers-up for a rainy day. To come into possession of the barrel all one has to do is open an account at the bank tomorrow or on succeeding days. The barrel will then be given with the bank book to be used as a receptacle for spare change—an exceedingly thrifty idea in these days.

When the barrel is filled, the owner may bring it to the bank at the corner of Merrimack and Palmer streets and deposit the contents. It is absolutely impossible to open the barrel without the use of the key and no one but attendants at the bank have the keys—another example of the "strength, security, service," slogan of the Middlesex National.

Scientists have dug up proof that lions and tigers once lived in Europe.

MAN HELD IN DEATH CASE REFUSES TO TALK

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—Two days of constant questioning have failed to break the reticence of Ernest Facenda, the youth held here charged with suspicion of murder in the death of Emma Dickson, Millsville, N. J., high school girl, whose body was found in the woods near her home on September 22, nine days after she disappeared. Detectives, conducting the examination said today the prisoner had given them but little information in addition to admitting having witnessed the killing of the girl along the highway in South Jersey. He refused, the detectives said, to answer any questions as to how she was slain or to say whether one or more persons had a hand in it. He declares, however, that he did not know the slayer.

TWO FOUND GUILTY IN AUTO THEFT CASE

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—John J. Koffler, of New York and Louis Schwartz, of Boston, were found guilty by a federal court jury early today, of conspiracy to transport stolen automobiles. John J. Silverman and Abraham Elpert, both of Boston, who were tried with them, were acquitted. Sentence of Koffler and Schwartz was deferred.

The government charged that Koffler obtained possession of high priced automobiles stolen in New York or Philadelphia and had them driven to Hartford, where mechanical changes were made and the cars were then brought to this city and sold.

land. The British public is alarmed at the possible danger to the royal family while in residence in the palace, for a fire during one of the brilliant court nights, when thousands of guests are at the palace, could easily result in a holocaust.

Though royalty itself may often be insignificant, royal residences rarely are, and Buckingham palace, as far as outward appearances go, is no exception. Each year thousands of tourists gaze in wonder and admiration on the imposing stone facade of the palace, one of the architectural sights of the British capital. Few of them know the palace front is a shell hiding an older building. It is like a beautifully decorated theatre fire curtain which separates the people from the stage settings of a royal court.

Behind the noble palace front is a maze of royal reception rooms, banqueting halls and living quarters for the royal family, and its retinue of retainers, court officials and servants. These quarters are separated by inflammable partitions and linked by a labyrinth of drafty hallways and a network of old fashioned electric wiring and heating installations.

Despite the fire risks, no English government buildings are even insured, no matter what may be their value or that of their contents. During the year ended December, 1920, the commission reports, 21 fires occurred in government buildings, eight of them attrib-ed to short circuits due to defects in old electrical installations. Buckingham palace is only one of London's historic buildings open to fire risks because of the nature of its construction. Somerset house, depository of priceless documents, is another. This building is a source of great anxiety to the government, according to the report of the commission on fire prevention. Many precautions are taken against

16TH CENTURY PRINTERS EXPERT CRAFTSMEN

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Saved for posterity through the efforts of a legion of rare book funders who vie for their possession, numerous examples of that most famous sixteenth century contribution to the publisher's art, the Aldine Press, are finding their way in increasing numbers to the protecting shelves of the Newberry library here. They are staunch testimonials to the one-time cheapness of fine literary works.

For this is one of the chief characteristics of these old volumes, according to Dr. Pierce Butler, rare book custodian of the Newberry library, who says that many products of the Aldine Press were published in form that rivals that of the best of the twentieth century has to offer and sold at the astonishing price of two shillings.

The Aldine Press was established by Aldus Manutius in Venice in 1494, shortly after the invention of printing. The firm was continued for nearly 75 years, first by his son and then his grandson, after the death of the founder. Some 908 works were produced in this time, of which samples of almost 100 are in the Newberry collection. Aldus specialized in works of Greek and Latin men of literary genius.

Almost as soon as published, the Aldine works were recognized as of unusual merit, according to Dr. Butler. Down through the years these rare volumes have gained increasing popularity, especially those turned out in extra fine workmanship.

SPINAL CURVATURE IN CHILDREN

In thousands of homes little attention is given by parents to the correct carriage and posture of their children.

Your children need careful supervision from infancy and childhood, through youth and the days of growth and development.

Teach them the health game of "straight back." Do not allow a careless, slouching position at meal time. During the "reading" period after meals, see that a sitting or reclining posture is one that does not interfere with the health game of spinal control.

If your children are growing rapidly and seem to lack muscular control of the back and erect carriage from the hips, watch them for the prevention of slump and slouch or bowed-out back.

Proper seating, both in the home and at the school, play a most important part in preventing spinal curvature. Proper muscular control is quite necessary to effect the well-balanced carriage and position of erectness, which insure a straight back, and health.

Walk, stand and sit erect, with your head up. Draw in the abdominal muscles in walking and deep breathing. Fill your lungs when you breathe, throw back the shoulders. Do these things every day and spinal curvature will not come your way.

Remove Dandruff

Then you will know true hair beauty. Dandruff cannot exist on a clean scalp and Gouraud's Oriental Coconut Oil Shampoo cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. It stimulates the natural hair oils into greater activity, helping to give the roots a vigorous, healthy growth that combats disease and takes away the dead, dry look. Delightfully perfumed. Use it consistently.

BLOW BUGLE BLOW!

Poppy Lady Suggests Taps
Daily for Unknown
Soldier

(By N.E.A. Service)

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 12.—A bugler to blow taps over the grave of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington cemetery at sunset each day.

This is the suggestion of Miss Michael of this city, known as the "Poppy Lady," as a tribute to those who sleep in "Flanders Fields."

Miss Michael was the first person to suggest the poppy as a war memorial flower—hence, nickname, or nom du guerre. She has been an honor guest of all the national conventions of the American Legion and will be on deck when the "boys" convene in San Francisco.

She is the author of "We Shall Keep Faith," an answer to Colonel McRae's "Flanders Fields."

EX-KAISER SELLS
FIRST WIFE'S GEMS

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Wilhelm Hohenzollern is raising money by the sale of some of the jewels belonging to his first wife and by the sale of several pictures. Pictures by French masters, and certain Hohenzollern portraits have been disposed of through a Dutch firm and a number of old Dutch and German paintings will be brought into the market shortly.

Some of the late empress' jewels, including a beautiful pearl necklace, were sold through a Cologne jeweller. Some time ago a number of French Gobeline, tapestries and ancient furniture were sold privately to Americans and the proceeds used for the purchase of Dutch funds.

COLUMBUS DAY

This is Columbus Day, the anniversary of the discovery of the western continent by Christopher Columbus on October 12, 1492, just 431 years ago. Columbus set sail on his voyage of discovery on August 3 of the same year and despite the primitive character of his flotilla, the voyage was made in seventy days, from which it is to be deducted the time spent at the Canary islands.

At the start of the voyage, Columbus gave his captains and pilots written instructions not to sail during the night after they should have proceeded 700 leagues as he expected to find land before they had gone 750 leagues, or approximately 2250 miles. This shows how confident Columbus was of reaching land, and how closely he had computed the distance to be sailed before land should be reached. Mutiny followed when the crews found that they had sailed over 750 leagues and yet no land was in sight; but the firm faith of Columbus soon reassured the crews and in five days later land was sighted.

Thus was the new world discovered in a special expedition fitted out for the purpose. It has been claimed that St. Brendan, an Irish monk, had reached land on the western hemisphere in the sixth century, by sailing west from the Cape Verde islands, but he did not make known his discovery so as to attract the attention of the world. The same may be said of Leif Erikson, a Norwegian navigator, who was exiled to Greenland and later established colonies there. He is said to have visited the land now known as Labrador, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and Cape Breton island in the tenth century, but despite the claims of prior discovery of land west of the Atlantic, it remained for Columbus to lift the veil of ocean and to open wide the gateways of navigation to the western world.

To the king and queen of Spain is due the honor of having equipped Columbus for the expedition. It is recorded that Queen Isabella pledged her jewels to help raise the necessary funds to finance the hazardous undertaking.

It is marvelous what a rapid growth has resulted from the discovery made by Columbus in the space of 431 years. And if so great in less than 500 years, what will be the status of the United States and the other parts of the western continent 200 or 300 years hence? It is beyond the power of imagination to conceive of the growth and progress the nations of the new world will attain if they hold fast to the principles of free government, of justice and humanity as laid down in the Declaration of Independence and the constitution of the United States. But if on the contrary, they engage in internecine strife and deadly jealousies, then they can expect no other fate than what has overtaken Europe and that threatens eastern civilization, because many of the nations have largely cast off all the restraints imposed by the laws of God and abandoned allegiance to the laws made for the maintenance of justice and right between man and man and equally between rival nations contending for power and supremacy.

In all probability the time is not far distant when the countries of South America will unite under a federal government patterned after that of the United States and this, protected by the strict enforcement of the Monroe Doctrine, will strengthen the combined nations, prevent war and promote the general good. Thus it appears, that with the exception of Christmas and Easter, Columbus Day is one of the most significant holidays in the calendar.

AN EXCELLENT REPORT

It would be difficult to speak in adequate terms of praise of the report of the special committee appointed by the city council to investigate the needs of the city in reference to protection against fire.

The subject has been handled by this committee with a degree of expert skill, rarely shown by any set of investigators not entirely constituted of experts. Of course, this committee may be said to be so constituted in having, as members, Mr. Sanford, an engineer, for chairman; Chief Saunders of the fire department; Supt. Gardner of the water department; Robert J. Thomas, former superintendent of that department, and John S. Caldwell, engineer of the New England Insurance Exchange.

The committee deals first with water supply and the means of making it available through proper hydrants and with the necessary pressure throughout the city. This would require either a stand pipe or an increase in the elevation of the reservoir, which is what the committee recommends. Recommendations are made for retaining the highest efficiency in the fire department by general motorization and a drill tower and school for the training of firemen in the more difficult phases of fire fighting, manning the apparatus, scaling high buildings and other stunts that firemen often find necessary at fires.

The fire alarm system, in the opinion of the committee, should be housed in a fireproof building, something that has been advocated for years, and the alarm system should be modernized. The committee does not recommend the abandonment of the bell alarms, which some say are useless. But for these alarms, however, many accidents would result from the dash of the engines through crowded streets. The alarm notifies the people along the streets to get out of the way, and this they do very generally.

The fire prevention suggestions are all good and practical. They include a fire prevention bureau in the department, an annual clean-up campaign, progress toward building construction which is not fireproof will meet the modern requirements of safety and afford ample protection to the occupants against the sudden spread of fires.

If the recommendations of this report be gradually carried out we shall soon see a reduction in the number of fires and in the amount of fire losses. That many changes are recommended does not indicate that the Lowell fire department is inefficient or not up to the standard of most other cities.

VETERANS' HOSPITALS

The announcement that Senator David I. Walsh will soon visit Arizona to inspect the treatment of tubercular war veterans in government hospitals in that state, brings out a story that has aroused all citizens who are endeavoring to have Uncle Sam do a little more than he has done for suffering heroes of the World War in many sections of the country.

Senator Walsh is reported to be thoroughly aroused at reports of the indifferent treatment of sick war heroes in the Arizona hospitals. And the senator is not the only Massachusetts citizen who feels the same way, for it must be remembered that a number of Massachusetts boys are included with those receiving treatment. Senator Ashurst of Arizona, appealed to the Bay State senator to make the official investigation, declaring that the veterans are not being properly cared for in these hospitals. The veterans raised funds enough recently to send a delegation of three to Washington to protest to Ashurst, but the latter declared that neither the delegation nor he was able to obtain any satisfaction from the veterans' bureau.

Senator Walsh is a member of the special senate committee appointed to investigate the administration of the bureau when Col. Forbes was director, and Mr. Ashurst points out that a personal investigation by Senator Walsh would carry the weight of the committee's authority.

The complaint of the veterans is Ashurst's way of putting it—and relief that hospital facilities are generally poor—"Incredibly poor," is Mr. Ashurst's demand as soon as possible.

Senator Walsh's report upon his return from Arizona ought to make highly interesting reading if the conditions complained of are not alleviated or removed before his arrival.

NATURE STUDY

Dorothy Dodge picked 245 different kinds of wild flowers during the summer, near Haverhill. A lot of us would have been there weren't that many. It illustrates the variety of ways in which the mysterious force, life, asserts itself.

There are over 200,000 species or groups of insects, although the average person knows but a comparatively small number of them. They form part of the animal life with which creation is teeming and of which man is king. Nature study leads into the mysteries of life in which we see the hand of a Divine Power working through it all for man's benefit if he only exercises his intelligence in using the natural resources placed at his disposal.

The Turks are now in full control at Constantinople and although the power of the Sublime Porte is gone, the nationalists now in control carry out the policy of Turkey for the Turks. They are reported to be tightening the screws upon American missionary schools and agencies of Christianity, all of which is to be expected as a result of the Turkish diplomatic triumph over the allies. They were defeated in the World War, but they have since recovered the result and by diplomatic shrewdness taken over all the fruits of victory from the allies.

If these memorial anniversaries referring to the Widow Leary's cow that kicked over the lantern in that Chicago stable are kept up, there's likely to be a monument erected to the naughty bovine in the near future as an ever-present warning in the national campaign to abolish confederations.

The downward rush of the German mark and the new alleged hopelessness of Germany's situation are blamed on Premier Papen for his speech refusing to accept something uncertain in exchange for the tattered Reich. Germany's self-pity appears to be overdone.

The republic of Salvador sends to

New York for a loan of some $5,000,000, which ought to be easy to get from the Morgans, Kuhns and Loobes et al., for the country's debt is but $18,000,000 and the bondholders for this amount are some of Britain's largest financiers.

Perhaps Mr. Coolidge's real reason for being taciturn and slow-spoken is his disinclination to talk without saying something worth hearing. He has the right idea, though many office-seekers and lobbyists do not like his guarded utterances.

The prohibition enforcement bureau reports that more than 500,000 "invalids" received liquor prescriptions during the past year. Some of them must have been robust if they bought their stuff where the bootleggers reign.

Mr. Storow has paid his respects to those New Englanders who hold that the unification of New England railroads in one system is not the best solution of our transportation problems. New Englanders, of course, were always provincial in their views but some of them can show Mr. Storow points even in this sequestered corner of the United States.

More than one anxious farmer of old Middlesex is discovering once again the value of the ancient, tried-and-true spring often neglected in the past down by the old back pasture lane just below the homestead. Many land-tilers are having their troubles during this dry spell, providing sufficient water for homes and cattle barns.

The student registration figures at Amherst, largely increased this year, show that the well known Massachusetts college got a lot of advertising out of its recent flurry over changes in the faculty.

And the rural roadsides on some of these bright October days are also enlivened by the colorful display of newly-made sweet older in the plump glass containers that used to be manufactured almost solely for the liquid that had another tang.

Stepping on the high price of gas in Massachusetts is always a popular vocation; but the state commission on the necessities of life has no powers to cut prices.

What is your honest opinion of the proposed come-back of one Grover Cleveland Bergdolf?

A Boston coal dealer has soothingly informed his regular customers to "keep cool." Now or later?

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

A new drink called "cassina" may give tea a run. It is brewed after the manner of tea from the leaves of the cassina shrub, which grows abundantly along the South Atlantic and Gulf states. Its active principle is caffeine. Cassina contains less tannin than tea, however, and is less harmful on this account. About a year ago Congress appropriated $5000 for the investigation of the possibilities of the cassina plant. The bureau of chemistry, using this money and a lot of old tea manufacturing machinery which has been used in the government's long and futile attempts to grow tea at a reasonable price in this country, set up an experimental station for the manufacture of cassina near Charleston, S. C. The shrub grew wild in the vicinity, and the bureau's experiments blinged largely about the manufacture from its leaves of a product from which the caffeine-containing drink could be brewed economically and on a commercial scale.

I saw an unusual occurrence in these days of independent workmen. Tuesday night, a gang of men had used up all the paint for repainting the street and as no more was left at four o'clock they put on their coats and started for home. Ten minutes after leaving the job they met the trucks with new supplies on the way to the job, and knowing that as much as possible of the street must be laid bare the cold weather strikes the city, the men turned around and going back, worked overtime until ten o'clock. The city is fortunate in having such an interested group of workers in its employment.

The pledge to the flag, which every child learns in school, has been slightly modified and State Commissioner of Education Payson Smith has asked school heads throughout the state to conform with the new pledge. Formerly the pledge ran: "I pledge allegiance to my flag," but this has been changed to read: "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States and to the republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible with liberty and justice for all."

When Judge Qua came upon the bench one morning last week to open the session a superior civil court case was not surprised to find, instead of the usual glass pitcher of water, a highly polished silver thermos bottle, with cover attached. Knowing of Judge Qua's dislike to drink ice water, Custodian Bickford of the court house purchased the new container for the exclusive use of the court and, needless to say, it is appreciated.

Colin Mackenzie, custodian of the Auditorium, has in his possession a directory of Lowell published after the Civil war. In this book are lists of all Lowell men who served in that war as well as a list giving the names of men who furnished substitutes and who the substitutes were. He is using this book in checking up on the lists to be placed on tablets in Trophy hall, and it will be hard indeed for any names to be credited unworthily.

Apparently there are a good many citizens of Lawrence who are not satisfied with the commission form of government, similar to that which Lowell tried and found wanting. Petitions are now being circulated in the downriver city and there is no difficulty being encountered in securing signatures, so that the question will in all probability be submitted to the voters on the ballot at the state election.

The amateur sportsman has been taking advantage of the excellent weather during the past week for a tramp in the woods. "The only drawback has been the scarcity of rain and the necessarily drying up of the muddy lands, where the partridge hangs out. But the hunters report that notwithstanding this they have had much success.

Big picture hats may come back. Probably an effort to make us quit riding street cars.

Style makers say the silk hat is returning. Wish we were young enough to throw rocks again.

Doctors have a drug that makes a man a savage. Girls should not look good enough to eat.

Harold H. Emmons, president of the Detroit board of commerce, established an aviation record when he ate breakfast in Detroit, had luncheon in Chicago and dinner in St. Louis on the same day.

A Londoner makes a very good living by going the rounds of the hotels and collecting the corks from wine bottles. These he sorts out and returns to the wine merchants concerned, receiving as much as 10 cents each for certain kinds.

Mrs. George Brigham of Mechanic Falls, Me., has received a box of dishes that she ordered four years ago from a Portland concern. Mrs. Brigham was told to have a chocolate pot and other dishes to match her Nippon set and the Portland store immediately forwarded her order to Japan.

Anybody Could Treat
"So sorry to hear your husband has been drinking again. Mrs. Mikes. Of course, drunkenness is a disease. He ought to be treated by a physician." "Bless ye, 'e wouldn't mind that, sir! When my 'usband 'ad a drop 'e don't care 'oo treats 'im."

Stretching the Truth
Prohibition Commissioner Haynes was talking in Washington about the sale of liquor on American ships. "These fellows deceived the people. They stretched the truth. Well, the truth is elastic, but"—and Mr. Haynes shook his head grimly—"but don't stretch it unless you want it to fly back and sting you."

Too Many Specimens
"Is there any necessity of your having quite so many young idlers hanging around here, Mabel?" asked the father in the properly deferential tone of a modern parent. "I am studying human nature, papa," answered the sweet girl. "You know the proper study of mankind is woman—in man." "Mebbe it is, but I must say I don't like the way you keep the house littered up with your specimens."

But She Was Sweet
Newlywed was on his honeymoon, and as he had married a very pretty girl he had no chance of telling everybody with whom he came in contact that he was a married man. "I want rooms," he announced, as he approached the hotel clerk, trying to appear as nonchalant as possible. "Certainly, sir," said the clerk. "For how many?" "For myself and my wife," replied Newlywed. "Yes, sir," said the clerk. "Suite, sir?" "Sweet!" cried Newlywed. "Of course she is!"

Too Much for Lawyer

The plaintiff was suing an automobile company for negligence on the part of one of its drivers. The case was going much against the company, and it was clear to all that the evidence of the plaintiff had very favorably impressed the judge and jury. This did not improve the temper of the counsel for the defendant, and when prosecuting examining he waxed very sarcastic. "As a matter of fact," he said sarcastically, "you were nearly scared to death, and you don't know whether it was a motor car or something resembling a motor car that hit you." "May I say, then," the plaintiff replied calmly, "that I was forcibly struck by the resemblance?"

To the Fringed Gentian

Thou blossoms bright with Autumn dew,
And colored with the Heaven's own blue,
That openest when the quiet night
Succeeds the keen and frosty night.
Thou comest not when the violets lean
O'er wandering brooks and springs unseen.
Or columbines, in purple dressed,
Nod o'er the ground-bird's hidden nest.
Thou waitest late and comest alone,
When woods are bare and birds have flown.
And frost and shortening days portend
The aged year is near his end.

Then doth thy sweet and quiet eye
Look through its fringes to the sky,
Blue—blue—as if that sky fell
A flower from its cerulean wall.

I would that thus, when I shall see
The hour of death draw near to me,
Hope, blossom within my heart,
May look to Heaven as thou dost.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

HELD ENTERTAINMENT AND WHIST PARTY

The parish hall of St. Louis' church in Boscawen street was the scene of an entertainment and whist party by the members of St. Anne's sodality last night. The affair was attended by several hundred members with their friends, and the party was a complete success both socially and financially. The playing commenced on the several dozen tables at 8 o'clock and the results were not known until about 9:30. The many pleasing prizes which have been on display at Cordeau's pharmacy for some time, were presented at the end of the program. As the conclusion of the card playing, an entertainment was furnished by members of the society under the direction of Officer J. David, choir leader, who gave some fine numbers by himself. Prominent among the entertainers were Thomas Savard, Benjamin La-Joumness, Joseph Lemieux and Edmond Camache.

Rev. John B. Labossiere and other members of the church clergy attended the function, the brilliant success of which is due to the efforts of a committee composed of Mrs. Napoleon Savard, secretary; Mrs. Narcisse Gadbois, treasurer; Mrs. Philippe Fortin and Mrs. Adelard St. Jean.

During the evening and appropriate pieces were given by Miss Gladys Porter, Miss Cathleen Shuy and Miss Madeline Trull. The children indulged in games during the evening. A buffet luncheon was served by the hostesses, aided by Mrs. Wesley Porter and Mrs. Annie Hansbury, and a large and beautiful birthday cake, the feature of the occasion, was presented by Mrs. George W. Trull. The happy little fellow was the recipient of many beautiful presents. After wishing him happiness and long life the party broke up at a reasonable hour, with the assurances of all present that they had had a good time.

The Illogical Sex

Men used to criticize my ways
And say my figure was unsightly,
Because I laced myself in stays
Which bound me tightly.

They once condemned in bitter terms
My lengthy skirts, and spoke with passion
Of how they swept up dirt and germs
In wholesale fashion.

With linen stiff I used to deck
My throat; whereat both fools and scholars
Said I would spoil my swan-like neck
With stand-up collars.

I tossed my armor-plate aside,
And happily I do without it;
Instead of being satisfied,
Men kick about it.

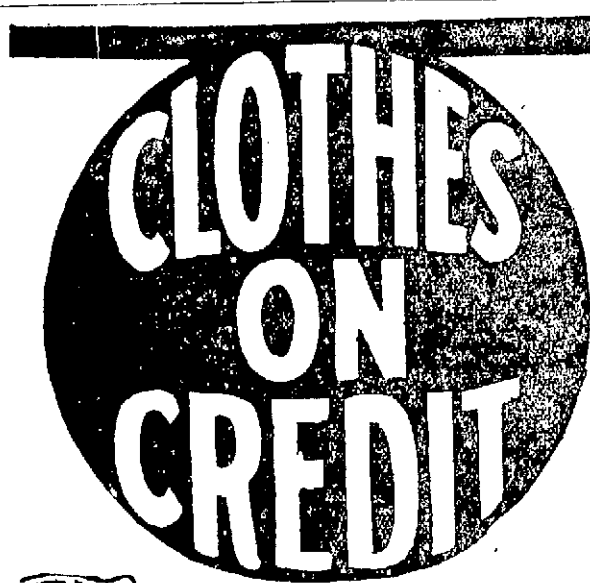

My skirts are short, my limbs are free,
No more I'm tightly choked and bodiced,
And promptly all the men agree
That I'm immodest.

"Illogical!" they call us? Oh,
THEIR inconsistencies refute 'em,
No matter what we do, we know
We cannot suit 'em.

This Little World

BY MASON DIXON
N.E.A. Service Writer
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 12.—Some days ago the New Orleans zoo received two deer from the antipodes. They were beautifully spotted. Authorities were at a loss how to classify them, or what names to give them. A negro keeper solved the problem.

This week park policemen were startled by raucous calls: "Come Subben! Come Lebben!" The cop thought he would add to his laurels by raiding a crap game and pushing his way through the bushes toward the calls.

"What are you doing, boy?" he asked. "Callin' dem deer," the negro replied. "Dey's marked jes' lak a pull ob dice."

Since then the deer have been known as Seven and Eleven.

ly swam Lake Pontchartrain, a distance of 28 miles, in 16 hours and 5 minutes. Hunt wrote a description of his swim for the newspapers, and in closing said:

"I lost 12 pounds on the swim." Swimming pool proprietors immediately commenced advertising classes for fat ladies, and now the line of buxom matrons and maids is long that extra days have had to be so provided for their accommodation.

papers were turned in by 3621 girls, as compared with 2152 boys. The crusty old bachelor school teacher, in commenting on the superiority of the girls, said:

"No wonder; the female of the species always used more words than the male."

The migration of negroes to the north, according to Walter A. Valois, Louisiana planter, has not so much affected the number of laborers as it has the quality and amount of work performed. Valois easily recruited enough white laborers to take the places of his negroes in the cotton fields and sugar cane. But they couldn't get the work out of the mules that the negroes could.

"A negro could drive a mule down a straight row without having any lines," said Valois. "Just talk to him, that's all. White men don't know the mule language, so there is great delay in their work."

Blind children in New Orleans will no longer be barred from the full advantages of the public schools for education, under a new arrangement for their schooling.

Sightless children will be taken right into the public schools and the regular classes. Heretofore they have been placed in a special school for the blind. They will be helped with their lessons, the same lessons that all children with good eyesight have to prepare.

In 1900 New Orleans had a death rate of 27 per 1000 population. The mortality figures for 1922 are 16.2 per 1000. Principal reason for this noteworthy betterment of public health is the magnificent city waterworks and sewerage system constructed at a cost of nearly $40,000,000.

SUCCESSFULLY TREAT SLEEPING SICKNESS

HAMBURG, Oct. 12. (By the A. P.)—Cures which strike the Congo native as being more mischievous than those of Biblical days are being performed on victims of sleeping sickness in Central Africa, according to Dr. Martin Mayer, of the Hamburg Tropical Institute, who was the first scientist to test a German remedy on sleeping sickness.

A German commission under the leadership of Dr. Klein is now in the tropical section of Africa applying the remedy. There are records of 170 Congo natives who have been treated. Only a few of these died, owing to brain and nerve complications. The others regained their strength and declared they were as well as they ever had been.

Dr. Mayer is of the opinion that science has found a remedy which will make it possible to develop much territory in the tropics which has hitherto been closed because of the danger of sleeping sickness.

GERMAN SMALL COINS DISAPPEAR
BERLIN, Oct. 12. (By the A. P.)—Aluminum 200 and 500 mark pieces issued by the government some months ago for small change purposes have entirely disappeared, and it is even impossible to obtain them at the banks.

With the depreciation of the currency, the metal in the pieces soon became worth more than their face value in marks. Poker players, too, are held partly responsible for disappearance of the pieces, as the aluminum coins were just a handy size to be used for chips.

There's a Right Way and a Wrong Way to Burn Lowell Coke

With all records being broken in the delivery of Lowell Coke, and the certainty of a greatly increased demand just as soon as the first real cold spell arrives, we feel that it is a matter of public interest to make plain the proper way to use Coke as a fuel.

The fact that all coal dealers are now placing great stress on the sale of Coke is due principally to two reasons: First, the shortage and high price of anthracite; second, the fact that you can secure just as good heat results with Coke and with very little accumulation of dirt and ashes.

The price of Lowell Coke is 50 cents per ton less than it was a year ago, and that is perhaps one of the reasons why we have secured so many new customers who have been burning anthracite in past winters.

IN USING LOWELL COKE

In the furnace, in the range, or in the heating stove, you must remember that a somewhat different handling is required than if you were using hard coal. If directions are followed, you can heat your house for less money, and do away with much of the disagreeable labor incidental to the use of hard coal.

HOW TO BUILD THE FIRE

Kindle in the usual way. It is not necessary to clear your grate bars of ashes. In fact it is preferable to leave at least two inches of ashes on the grate, on which to kindle the fire. Less kindling will be required than with hard coal, and in about fifteen minutes you will have a good bed of fire. Fill your furnace with coke, leaving drafts open not more than five minutes, after which the damper may be closed and cold air drafts opened to check the fire as much as possible.

HOW TO KEEP THE FIRE

Fill the fire pot full of coke. Keep a large bed of fire, as it is more economical to have a large bed of fire under low draft than a smaller bed of fire under a stronger draft. (See diagram.)

AT NIGHT

When you leave the fire at night throw on as much coke as the fire pot will hold. Close lower drafts, open wide all check drafts and open the check draft in the feed door and you will have no trouble in keeping your fire over night.

IN THE MORNING

Should you find the fire a little low in the morning, do not shake it; poke a few holes from above to allow for draft, and throw on a shovel or two of coke. Open your draft and in about ten minutes you will have a good fire. As soon as the fire is well under way, shake to relieve of surplus ashes, but be sure to stop shaking as soon as live coals appear in the ash pit.

Then, again, we are giving 30 two-bushel bags, or 60 bushels in all, for a ton. This fact alone is sufficient reason why everyone who believes at all in economy should use Lowell Coke.

The manner in which Lowell Coke is produced gives it a higher percentage of carbon than is contained in anthracite coal, which leaves a far less amount of ash and makes it so much easier to handle.

In the manufacture of Lowell Coke only the highest grade of gas bituminous coal is used, assuring a product of greatest heat value.

AT NOON

When you fixed the fire in the morning, you filled the fire box as full of coke as possible. You closed most of your drafts until you got a large body of fire, then closed every draft and opened your check draft. At noon fill up the furnace as you would with hard coal in severe weather, only be sure and fill it full.

DURING MILD WEATHER

If you have a fairly good draft you will probably find that during mild weather you can keep the feed door ajar most of the time. You can hold the fire readily from twelve to eighteen hours. If your furnace has too much draft, it is well to throw a shovelful of ashes over the bed of fuel before leaving it.

Shake the fire only once a day. Stop shaking as soon as live coals appear.

HERE'S THE WHOLE STORE IN A NUTSHELL

1. Start fire as for coal.
2. Use same size coke as you would coal.
3. Keep fire pot full.
4. Use slow draft.
5. Poke fire from top rather than shake.
6. Bank fire with fine coke or ashes.
7. Open drafts to start fire quickly.
8. Keep check in door open a small amount.
9. Notify Lowell Gas Light Co. of any trouble or difficulties.
10. We guarantee satisfaction and service.

NEW BILL TO PREVENT WEARING OF MASKS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press.) The state legislature proceeded today with arrangements for investigating the official acts of Governor J. C. Walton as a court of impeachment.

Dr. Hartley has chosen as his subject one with which the convention is vitally concerned. It will be "The Rural Mother, Effective Methods of Increasing Her Interest and Cooperation in Improving the Health of Her Family." This Minnesota official has given much time to this phase of his department's work and is considered to be one of the country's foremost authorities on it.

His bill, Senator Leedy declared, has provisions similar to that of the governor except that it would not compel secret organizations to file their posters with county authorities.

Senator Leedy's bill, like that of Governor Walton, would prohibit the wearing of masks and exact severe penalties against those who assemble for purposes of intimidation or violence.

mental ailments must be carefully rectified, he will content, but broader questions such as environment and the health of other members of the family, must be considered.

This will be the first national convention of the American Child Health Association, which was organized last winter by the merger of the American Child Hygiene Association and the Child Health Organization of America. Herbert Hoover is the president of the association, which has as its purpose the betterment of the health of America's childhood. It deals with every phase of this question, from the prenatal period through the preschool and school ages.

Administrative affairs of the association are at 274 Seventh avenue, New York city, while national headquarters is maintained at 322 Seventh street, Washington, D. C.

ASO VOLCANO ACTIVE FOR SEVERAL DAYS

The rumbling of the great volcano can be heard for many miles; it is said, and large quantities of ashes have been falling in nearby villages.

Business Suspended (Continued)

March through the downtown streets the council members were led by the Lowell Cade band.

Early this afternoon the Christopher Columbus society began its celebration of the day which began with a parade to Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street, at 1:45 o'clock. The Mazumi band of Lawrence provided the marching tunes. At the meeting, at the hall, the speakers scheduled were Mayor John J. Donovan, Dr. Fred P. Murphy and Prof. Orlando of Boston. In the world of sport the day was one of great activity, with World Series reports being received downtown, the Red Sox and O.M.L. Cade's clashing at Alumni field to settle the city amateur football championship and a carnival of wrestling going on at Banting park under the auspices of Battery B.

The high school team left at noon for Manchester, N. H., to play the high school eleven of the Queen City.

This evening the Moody club will present to the lovers of fine music Billie Murphy of Lowell and Charlie Manty of New Bedford and other bouts as preliminaries.

The 25th anniversary of the Spanish-American war is being celebrated in Boston with a parade of all organizations from Massachusetts which answered the call to arms issued at that time, including survivors of the three Lowell companies of the Sixth and Ninth regiments, Companies C, G and M. They met at the armory in Westford street at 10:30 o'clock and left for Boston by train and auto truck shortly after 11 o'clock.

The three local golf clubs, Vesper, Longmeadow and Mt. Pleasant, presented attractive tournament possibilities to their members and players from out of town.

Theatre and dance halls were prepared to entertain capacity crowds and above all the weather was warm enough to be enjoyable and the clear call to be out of doors was answered in thousands of instances.

TO LOOK PRETTIER END CONSTIPATION!

Constipation is often a cause of pimples, unhealthy complexion, dark rings around the eyes, fatigue, nervousness and irritability. And one of the chief reasons this condition is allowed to exist is because so many women dread to take harsh cathartics that pain and grip and often leave one more constipated than ever when the drug effect wears off.

Get rid of this handicap! Win back the flush of youth and beauty—the health and charm of school days. Take a good vegetable laxative such as prescribed by Dr. H. S. Thacher and now used by thousands of women to help correct constipation without purging—to improve digestion—to nourish the system in a safe and easy way, to build up healthy flesh and send purer, richer blood coursing through your veins.

MONUMENT TO MEMORY OF MAJ. GEN. WARREN

PLYMOUTH, Oct. 12.—A monument to the memory of Major General James Warren, paymaster-general of the continental army, president of the Massachusetts provincial congress and speaker of the Massachusetts house of representatives was unveiled on Burial Hill today by members of the Massachusetts society Sons of the American Revolution. The stone was designed by Geo. P. Tilton.

A detail from the Howitzer company of the 101st infantry regiment fired a major general's salute and there were addresses by Arthur P. Sumner of Rhode Island, president-general of the society, Arthur Lord, president of the Pilgrim society, and Charles F. Read, chairman.

of the national committee on the Warren Memorial.

A letter from President Coolidge, read at the exercises, congratulated the committee in charge on its work in accomplishing the memorial.

"It is extremely worth while," the president's message said, "to keep the nation reminded of its debt to those who bore the great tasks of laying the foundations for its present power and security. Among these James Warren is entitled to a high place."

The evening speaker is Rev. A. T. Brooks, P.R.G.S., pastor of Dudley Street church, Boston, who will talk on "Personal Evangelism."

Dr. Brooks will have charge of the song services both at the morning and afternoon sessions. He enjoys a high reputation in musical circles and his church in Boston is known as the "Singing Church."

The dinner and supper are being served by the members of the Ladies' Social circle of the Paige Street church, of which Mrs. G. E. Colby is the president.

ORR-EMMOTT NUPTIALS ATTEND HIGH SCHOOL

Brilliant Ceremony Marks Statistics Show That Fewer Students Now Spurn the High School

At a brilliant house wedding at 7:30 o'clock last evening, Miss Virginia Lorraine Emmott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Emmott, became the bride of Mr. Andrew Stewart Orr, Lowell Textile Co., and at present a department head at the Cherry & Webb Co. The wedding was at the Emmott home in Westford street and attending the ceremony and reception which followed were several hundred friends of both families in New England and New York state.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Anselton Grannis, rector of St. Anne's, the double ring service being used. It took place in the drawing room under a beautiful canopy of laurel, white roses and statice, with the bride standing within a white-ribbed aisle of flowers in which pink roses and white chrysanthemums predominated. White satin pillows on a white music frame provided a kneeling place for the bride and bridegroom.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She had as her maid of honor Miss Dorothy Droege of New York city, and as bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Bailey of Augusta, Me., Miss Gertrude Baylis of Brooklyn, Miss Sarah Crane of Burlington, Vt., and Miss Marjorie McCord of Lowell. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. George A. Orr of New York, and the ushers were Mr. Alexander Orr of New York, Mr. James

CHICAGO, Oct. 12. (By the A. P.)—If the boy or girl who formerly "quit school" at the end of the seventh or eighth grade is not actually becoming extinct his ranks are being decimated annually, according to reports covering an average ten year period compiled from the offices of public instruction in ten central states.

The percentage of increased high school attendance for the period was taken as the medium for estimate. The average increase figure for the decade was found to be 93.4 per cent, with extremes ranging between 1000 per cent, the figure reported by Oklahoma, to 40 per cent, that of Iowa.

While the figures do not unqualifiedly represent the increased proportion of grade school students entering high schools—the factor of increasing population applying largely to newer states—they do indicate that the former gap existing between the eighth grade and high school gradually is being eliminated.

In Oklahoma, according to a statement issued by Luther Russell, state high school inspector, the increase in 11 years from 1910 to 1921 was from 6126 to 62,021, or 100 per cent. Figures supplied by the department of education of Kentucky set the increase from 11,836 in 1914, to 36,000 in 1922—an advance of 203 per cent, while in South Dakota the total number of high school students in 1922, 15,683, represented a jump of 162 per cent from the number enrolled in 1912.

H. Orr of Boston and Mr. J. Milton Washburn of Lowell and Mr. Dean W. Symmes of Winchester, the latter two being classmates of the bridegroom at Lowell Textile.

The bride was gown in white satin trimmed with princess lace and wore a veil caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a charming bouquet of lilacs of the valley and orchids arranged in shower form. The maid of honor wore honey-dee georgette trimmed with gold lace and carried roses. Two of the bridesmaids wore a make georgette lace trimmed while two wore lavin green georgette, beaded in gold. All four wore gold stockings and slippers and carried old fashioned bouquets.

The bride gave to her maid of honor a platinum bar pin and to her bridesmaids, white gold linked bracelets. The gift of the bridegroom to his best man was a set of platinum cuff links and he remembered his ushers with platinum and gold cuff links.

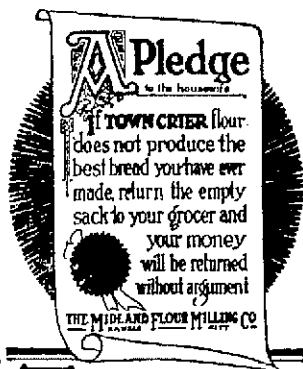

With the bride and bridegroom in the receiving line at the reception which followed the ceremony at 7:30 o'clock were Mr. and Mrs. Emmott, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Orr of New York, father and mother of the bridegroom and the maid of honor and best man.

The wedding music was played by the Amphion trio, using piano, violin and cello and they also played during the reception. Luncheon was served by the Page company. Roses and zinnias were used to procure a beautiful color scheme in the dining room, while in other rooms a decorative scheme of green and white was brought about by the attractive use of laurel and white chrysanthemums.

After a wedding trip by motor Mr. and Mrs. Orr will live at 12 Chester street.

Daring Pilot Will Pierce Skies to Locate Absolute Aerial Ceiling

(By N.E.A. Service)

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 12.—Ed Ballough saved his life and smashed a garage can when his plane hit upside down in a 2000-foot drop through the atmosphere onto somebody else's back yard.

Now he's being sued for living, in a test case which will decide the aerial rights of stranded aviators, who find it necessary to trespass the free ozone above land claimed by another.

Ballough's steering handle dropped out from under him as he was making one of the highest loops on record so far above terra firma that Robert Johnson's house and garage can be seen from his cockpit.

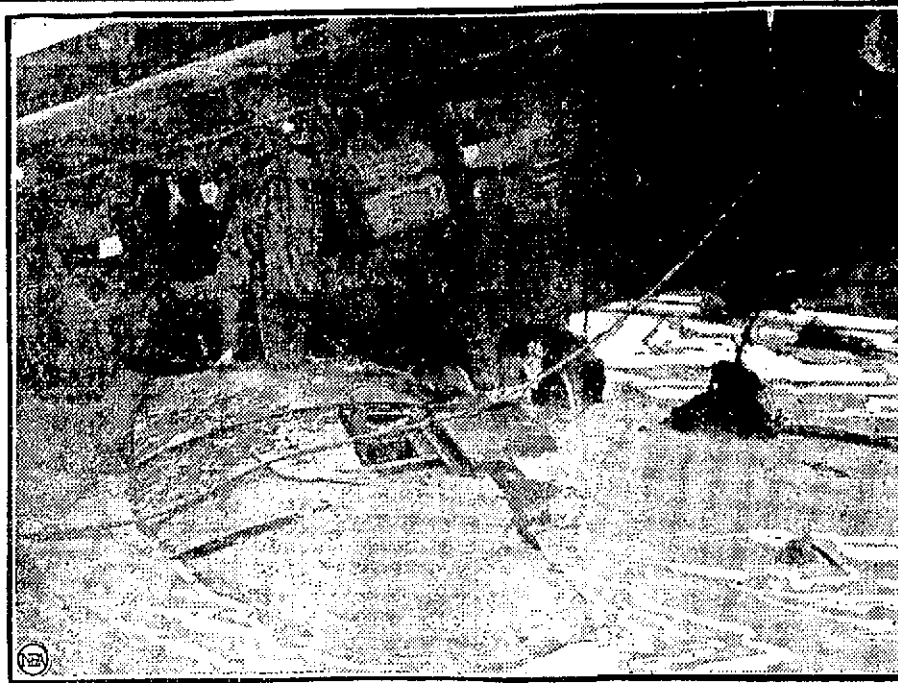

Then all at once it happened and Ed found himself astride the obstreperous flying critter's rear end, making frantic efforts to guide it safely down.

When he unlocked himself from the cage which seized him following the first terrific crash and still feeling "kind of woozy," someone came up behind him and said: "See here, young fellow, who's going to pay for this garbage can and busted clothespole?"

Thereupon the suit followed and is now before Judge W. J. Boerner, who must decide whether the air above a person's property belongs to him or not.

"But the law wouldn't have had a chance had I been killed," says Ballough. "I'm really being sued for living."

The plucky aviator is a test pilot for the Curtiss Northwest Airplane company.

FATE'S SEPULCHRE

Quicksand and bottom silt closed over the wrecks of cars which plunged off the weakened Coal Creek bridge near Casper, Wyo., recently, hurling some 25 to 40 passengers to their deaths in the turbulent waters below. Officials were impeded in their efforts to extricate bodies of victims from the tangled mass of steel and mud, due to submergence of the coaches, compelling them to burn passages through the roof tops with acetylene torches as shown in picture.

SET IMPEACHMENT MACHINERY IN MOTION

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press) Impeachment machinery of the Oklahoma house of representatives was set in motion today with the announcement by W. D. McTee, speaker, of a committee of 21 house members to conduct investigations upon which impeachment charges would be based.

The state senate postponed consideration of legislation affecting the K.K.K. when it adjourned after a 15-minute session until Monday afternoon.

An anti-klan bill drawn by Senator C. B. Leedy which was to have been introduced was withheld.

From the size of the committee it is believed that investigations of several state departments might be undertaken simultaneously. It was indicated yesterday the committee would be composed of nine members. It is expected to be divided into several sub-committees to expedite its work.

Charge Letter Theft

Commissioner at Boston today.

The arrest of Cote follows several weeks' investigation by the postmaster, caused by several reports of mail matter containing money failing to arrive at its destination. Shortly before midnight last night the postmaster and the inspectors took up favorable positions in the postoffice and a marked letter was set as a lure for the probable thief.

Suspicion rested upon Cote and shortly before 3 o'clock he was taken into custody and searched and it is claimed that the marked letter was found upon his person.

Cote drives one of the Douglas trucks on the shift starting at midnight and continuing until 9 or 10 o'clock in the morning. In his official capacity he is not supposed to handle any loose mail, but only the sacks in which the mail is transported. During the periods between trips to the station, it is claimed that he loitered about the postoffice building and picked up mail addressed to credit houses in this city.

If it is possible to locate U. S. Commissioner Hayes in Boston today, Cote will be taken to Boston by U. S. Deputy Marshal Hart of Lowell for assignment.

Cote resides at 39 Concord street, is about 26 years of age, is married and has two children, the younger but four months old.

In speaking of the arrest today, Postmaster Dellalo stated that small thefts have been going on, the matter stolen not being registered mail but ordinary first class matter. After a long investigation suspicion was drawn to Cote through several acts and the arrest followed.

It is hoped by the postmaster that this arrest will put a stop to the loss of certain letters, mailed in the ordinary manner, and containing money, addressed to certain local credit houses. The postmaster warns that in all cases where money is sent through the mails it should be registered.

MANTON METCALF DEAD

Was Wealthy Woolen Manufacturer, Philanthropist and Club Man

ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 12.—Manton Bradley Metcalf, wealthy woolen manufacturer, philanthropist, and club man, died at his home early today from heart disease.

Mr. Metcalf was a member of the firm of Metcalf Brothers and Co., selling agents for one of the largest woolen manufacturers in the United States. One of its chief plants is the Wamsuk mill in Rhode Island.

Mr. Metcalf began his business in 1857, leaving Brown university in that year as a member of the class of 1881, and with his brothers Jesse and Stephen, continued it after the death of their father.

He had returned only two days ago from Providence, where he took part in the formal dedication of a half million dollar chemical laboratory given to Brown university by his brother Jesse, in memory of their father.

During the war Mr. Metcalf turned his yacht Sachem over to the government and it was used by Thomas A. Edison for experimental purposes. The late President Harding, who was a close personal friend of Mr. Metcalf, had often been entertained aboard the Sachem.

First successful cable across the Atlantic was laid 72 years ago.

FOUR HOME RUNS FEATURE SECOND GAME WON BY YANKEES TO THE UP WORLD SERIES

BABE RUTH

"Babe" Ruth Chases World Series Jinx and Hammers Out Two Circuit Drives in Successive Innings—Ward and "Irish" Meusel Only Home Run Hitters—Pennock Pitched Fine Game for Winners

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (By the Associated Press)—Pitchers, always looked upon as the prime factors in contests between leading baseball teams, have been but a medium of importance in the present world's series between the New York Yankees and the New York Giants. Like clay bird traps, they have been but shooters of targets for squads of marksmen and to the marksmen has gone the glory.

The series now stands all even, Giants and Yankees each having won a game. In the first tilt Charles (Carey) Stengel of Missouri was the master marksman, his homer in the ninth inning winning the game for the Giants, 5 to 4. Casey won fame because of that clown hit, but he must bow to Babe Ruth, whose two homers yesterday provided the winning margin for the Yankees, 4 to 2. Ruth's first blow, caught on the end of his great war club, sailed clear over the high ding stands of the Polo grounds and on to none knows where. The second, a terrific low flying line drive, sent the ball into the lower right field grandstand, scattered two score fans and shattered the wooden arm rest of a seat.

Pitching Sinks Into Shadows

Compared to such stick work the excellent pitching of Ryan for the Giants and Bush for the Yankees in the first game and that of Herb Pennock for the Yankees in yesterday's contest, sinks into the shadows. There yet may be an old-fashioned pitcher's duel in form the possibility is remote.

Ruth is the axis about which the Yankee sphere revolves. When Ruth is in, the thing turns perfectly. And Ruth was Ruth yesterday. Whatever cast the Yankees may have lost in 1922, when they were turned to defeat by the Giants without a single victory, Huggins, the hit of a manager, believes they regained yesterday through Ruth's performance.

Four of the six runs scored yesterday were on home runs. In the second

BIG HARRY WILLS ALSO KNOCKS A HOMER

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Harry Wills heard all about the world series yesterday. He heard all about Babe Ruth. In the evening he went over to the Queensborough stadium in Long Island City. He kept thinking about Babe Ruth. He kept thinking about him, and thinking about him, and when he climbed into the ship—bump—he knocked a homer. Then he did it again. He did it eight times in two innings, heating the table's record to a frazzle, and the last time he knocked one out. The hitting was Homer Smith of Kalamazoo, Mich., who stayed ten rounds with Luis Angel Firpo. The negro weighed 211 pounds to Smith's 166, and he made good use of his advantage.

The Kalamazoo fighter was down five times in the first round, but didn't appear to be hurt. The third knockdown in the second round, Smith rolled over at the count of two and waited. After the bell rang, he got up and walked to his corner apparently little hurt.

BOXING BOUTS TONIGHT

Murphy and Manty in Great Condition for Moody Club Battle

Billy Murphy and Charley Manty finished their training yesterday and both are reported in perfect condition for their important battle engagement at the Moody club tonight. The bout is scheduled to go ten rounds and both men are prepared to travel the journey at a fast pace.

Manty worked out with a number of notable ringmen in New Bedford, paying particular attention to a defense against a southpaw attack. With the experience he acquired in training, coupled with the knowledge obtained in the former battle with the Lowell bash, he confidently expects to even the score this evening.

The whizzer expects to launch a whirlwind attack at the outset and carry on until the end. He has been going at topspeed all season and only last week won over the veteran Al Shubert in a hurricane battle. He emerged from the encounter without any signs of combat and after a brief rest went into intensive training for tonight's bout.

Murphy has been working out with Phiney Boyle and other capable sparring partners, and all declare he is in the "pink." They agree that the angel boy has greatly improved since he last fought Manty and they look to see him win by an even greater margin than in the other bout. Murphy is prepared to do more fighting than he showed before. He's just as fast at long range work, but he's hitting harder and more often. He will be ready for Manty when he tears at him, and he will enter the ring determined not to yield, but to batter his way to a second triumph.

Babe Adams of Lawrence sent word of this city. Sailor Monroe will meet Herby McDonald in one of the preliminaries and Tad Sullivan will tackle Larry Robinson in the other.

HIS A NOBLEMAN, AND A NOBLE HALF
Oh, girls, you just must meet Mons. Henry Castellano, half-brother on the Harvard football squad. Henry is one of those blue bloods George Barr McCutcheon is always writing about. Henry is a nephew of Count Boni of Ann Gould note, and is the son of Count Stanislaw Castellano of Paris. Isn't that just too thrilling for syllabables!

LOWELL HIGH PLAYING IN MANCHESTER

The high school football squad left shortly before noon today for Manchester, N. H., where they will engage the high school team of that city in a football game this afternoon. Every member of Coach Liston's outfit reported in perfect shape this morning and confidence reigned supreme as the trucks carrying the players left the high school building in Kirk street.

As Manchester defeated Lowell high last season, the locals were out to turn the tables. After the road work in the Concord game last week, the team took on a new lease of life and practiced faithfully all week. After today's game the team will rest up until next Friday, when commences high of Boston will appear at Alumni field.

NOTRE DAME PLAYS ARMY TOMORROW

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Notre Dame's football team gets into town today and will immediately go to their quarters in the Westchester-Biltmore Country club at Rye, where they will use the polo field for a series of stretching up exercises in preparation for their battle against the army eleven at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, tomorrow.

Despite the fact that a world series baseball contest will be in full swing up at another end of the city, the management of Ebbets field announced today that they had hung out the "Standing Room Only" sign for Saturday's game.

The game will start at 3.30 o'clock. Last year's game between the two teams resulted in a 0 to 0 tie.

PAPYRUS COVERS MILE IN 1.40 2-5 IN WORKOUT

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. Papyrus, winner of the English derby, who had been a disappointment to track followers in his early workouts after his arrival here, splashed a big surprise all over the sport world yesterday when at the Belmont track he covered the mile in 1.40 2-5 and the mile and a furlong in 1.54 2-5, without puffing a single breath.

He was pulled down toward the end of his run and came in easy, but at the beginning, setting off from a flat-footed start, the little brown horse which will meet Zev Oct. 26 in the $100,000 international match race, ran like a breeze.

Starting an eighth behind Bar Gold, his stablemate, the derby winner passed him at the half mile post as if he were standing still. After the race he seemed to be still risky, but Basil Jarvis, his trainer, was worried about a very slight lameness in the right fore ankle. He was confident, however, he said, that Papyrus would be entirely recovered by the day of the race.

FANS GO WILD OVER BABE RUTH

"Babe" Ruth was the big noise at the Crescent rink yesterday afternoon when his two home runs were flashed on the electric score board, which is daily giving a play by play account of the world series games. When the big "Bambino" socked the apple over the fence the first time causing the bell on the board to ring as he touched each base the roar that went up could be heard some distance away, but when he repeated the stunt in the very next inning the applause and cheers rocked the hall. It was one of the wildest and most enthusiastic demonstrations ever witnessed. When Ward and Meusel got their circuit smashes they drew abundant applause, but it remained for the big "king of swat" to "bring down the house."

Large crowds are turning out every day to witness the electrifying wonder presenting the games just as they occur over in New York city. The games start at 2 o'clock.

PIGSKIN BOOTERS OFF TO HARTFORD

Accompanied by the coaches, faculty managers and a large following of rooters, the Textile school footballers left this morning for Hartford, Conn., where they will prepare to the game with Trinity college tomorrow afternoon. Trinity is regarded as one of the big games on Textile's schedule and a win over the outfit will prove a considerable boost to the red and the black.

The players who made the trip are as follows: Guild, Presson, Anderson, Woods, ends; Feindel and Wood, tackles; Villa, Smith, Musgrave, Head, Maguire, guards; Bentley and Brodney, centers; McKinstrey, Carter, Brigham, Goodwin, fullbacks; Sutcliffe, Yacubian, Frederickson, halfbacks; and Capt. Olson, fullback.

SEVERAL LOWELL PEOPLE RETURN AFTER WITNESSING FIRST TWO GAMES OF WORLD SERIES

Spindle City Well Represented at Thrilling Battles—"Bob" Hart in the Lime-light—His Decision on Technical Play Upheld by Experts—Lowell Visitors Meet "Billy" Evans, Noted Sports Authority, and Special Writer for The Sun

Several Lowell men who attended the first two games of the world series returned to the Spindle City last night, well satisfied that they had witnessed a couple of historic battles. Lowell people are numerous over in the big city, many of whom plan to remain until the baseball classic is over.

All are greatly interested in the work of "Bob" Hart, fellow townsman, who is officiating in the capacity of one of the umpires. Hart had the third base assignment in the opening game. Yesterday he worked at second base, today at first and tomorrow he will be behind the plate as umpire-in-chief.

Hart's Decision Upheld

Yesterday Hart was called upon to make an important decision, one that is regarded as among the most difficult an arbitrator is called upon to make—the claim of interference. Young of the Giants in dashing for second base threw himself into the bag. Ward who took the throw from Scott, tagged second for a force-out, and then alleged Young interfered with him when he attempted to throw to first for the completion of a double play. All the Yankee players rushed onto the field to register a protest, but Hart refused to allow the claim. Hart's contention was that Ward had ample opportunity to make a play, but made the mistake himself of taking a step over Young. His decision was upheld by the other umpires.

In speaking of this play, one of the experts at the game said: "It was the only decision possible under the circumstances." He explains the play as follows: "Young, after having been forced from first when Meusel grounded to Scott and when he was certain to be an easy out, instead of sliding into second straight, threw himself at the bag broadside." "Ward, after having received the ball from Scott and thus forcing Young, stumbled over the latter's body as he stepped off the bag toward first, a natural move preliminary to throwing to complete the double play. When he had regained his equilibrium the play was impossible and he did not attempt, but, instead, set up the claim of interference. Since there is no hard-and-fast rule as to how a runner shall slide into a base, if he can make it, Hart could not allow the claim and a stormy session of protest in which all of the Yankee players and Manager Huggins participated followed, the spectators adding to the general clamor.

Young was hooted the next time he came to bat, but he acknowledged this swim.

WORLD'S SWIMMING RECORD

HONOLULU, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press) Another world's swimming record was smashed by Gertrude Ederle of the New York Women's Swimming Association when she made the 100 metre free style event in one minute, 2 1-5 seconds, at last night's session of the A.A.U. meet here. On the previous night, she hung up a new record for the 200 metre open water swim.

Roper Again Courts Miss Miracle

BILL ROPER

BY JOE WILLIAMS, N.E.A. Service Writer
PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 12.—(Am.)—man Bill Roper of Princeton is in a dithered condition these days investigating the scientific theory that lightning never delivers its electrical fury to the same address twice.

A year ago the Princeton football squad rolled by the departure of five outstanding stars, Lourie, Keck, Whitmer, Garrity and Gilroy, was struck by the lightning of a football miracle, the effect of which was to lift a team of obvious mediocrities to the dizzy heights of a championship.

This year Roper backs himself in a similar situation with the entire center of his line shot away, the two surviving veterans ends standing as heroic reminders of a glorious past.

On these two ends and a backfield of four seasoned men the Philadelphia political genius must build his new team, a team which will be called on to battle Notre Dame, Navy, Harvard and Yale in quick jumps.

The Nassau Tiger rather makes a specialty of picking out the toughest ones. Last year it was Chicago, Harvard and Yale. This year Notre Dame replaces Stagg's men on the schedule and the midshipmen are added to heighten the fever.

Nobody expected the Tiger to come through with a clean slate last fall, but he did. Nobody thinks the Tiger can repeat this fall—but he may.

They do things in an interesting if not an orthodox manner at Princeton. Roper has no set system, beyond the development of a winner in a general way. Since the thrilling days of Sammy White and the Poe boys the Tigers have been known as a team of "opportunists," close, eager followers of the lead, men who are schooled to wait for the "break" and then capitalize it.

Roper has a way of appealing to the individuality of the player as distinguished from the highly systematized maneuvers of other coaches. Roper banks heavily on the inspirational spark. It is his theory that the inspired crew will outplay a stodgy star any day in the week, and twice on Saturday afternoons. To have the best team is not important, to play the best game always is.

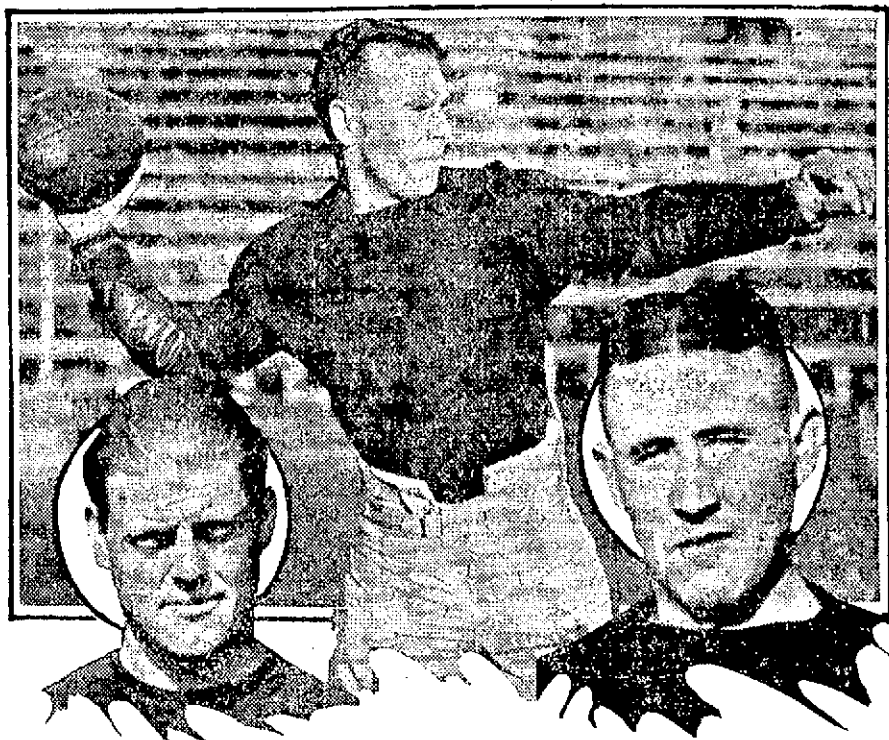

The physical aspect of the Tiger while dark are not utterly discouraging. Roper has two fine ends in Stout and Drews. The return of Hutau did not play last year. Hills, a 200-pounder, will probably go to the other tackle. Howard is a guard with experience. Paschal has the inside track for the other guard position. Caldwell, an all-around man, is filling the center berth acceptably.

The old backfield is back in action, with the tiny Johnny Gorman, audacious hero of the Chicago game last year, still calling signals at quarter-back. Captain Shively, Beattie Newby and Crum are smashing backs, able defensive workers and smart players.

Barling injuries this backfield, as an effective unit will rank with the best in the game.

Ambitious, hopeful second stringers abound in the usual numbers. Purcell, Helmuth, Heywood and Hemminger are capable reserves for the line. Foster, Ewing, Shackelford, Gibson and Legendre, a brother of the former Princeton star, are lurking in the background wishing nobody ill, but hoping a flock of backfield men fall down and bump their heads.

Army's Main Grid Hopes

ARMY'S MAIN GRID HOPES

With Notre Dame, Yale and the Navy on their schedule, not to forget Arkansas and Alabama, good teams from the south, the West Point Cadets are in for a rugged season. Fortunately Captain McEwen, coach, seems to have a formidable squad of footballers. Eastern experts look for the army stars to have one of their greatest years. In Captain Mulligan the Army has a great tackler. Quarterback Smythe has few equals in the east, Garlisch, All-American center of last year, is still his tremendously effective self and the acquisition of Hewitt, former Pittsburgh line demolisher, has given the Cadets a fullback of extraordinary ability.

The leading back drives ahead through the opening for the secondary. The quarterback index out wide, or may run straight back with his hands in the air, to momentarily draw the attention of the defense.

The pass from center should be a "floater," knee high to hold the fullback down, and directly in front of him. The fullback at the snap of the ball plunges low and hard toward the hole, takes the ball out of the air and crashes into the opening in the quick-

INDIANS DEFEAT KENWOOD ROVERS

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 12.—The Canadian department of mines has received a block of silver ore weighing two tons from the Keeley mines in northern Ontario. It will be preserved in an exhibit.

URGES ANTI-KU KLUX KLAN LAW

Gov. Walton Calls Upon Oklahoma Legislature to Enact Law

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 11 (By the Associated Press).—Governor J. C. Walton called upon the Oklahoma legislature today to enact an anti-Ku Klux Klan law to save the state from the disaster he says it faces through existence of the secret organization.

In his address, opening an extraordinary session of the assembly, the executive charged the Klan with responsibility for hundreds of outrages and punctuated his remarks by laying before the lawmakers transcripts of all testimony adduced by military courts of inquiry which under his proclamation of martial law investigated men violence and masked depredations in various parts of the state. He requested the senate to examine the record and then publish it.

"This all-powerful and most demoralizing 'super-government' is undermining the very corner stone and foundation of our government and sapping the lifeblood of our citizenship," Governor Walton declared. "It must either be killed or the government itself must finally give way to anarchy and revolution. There is no alternative or middle ground."

The governor reviewed at length the chain of events which have kept the state in turmoil for a month and concluded his message with a plea that the legislature immediately pass a bill which he himself has prepared "that the people may be protected forever in their person, property and fundamental liberties."

"The conflict between the visible and invisible government must be brought to a close with a complete victory for the visible government, or Oklahoma will face indefinite turmoil and strife, the results of which are bound to be disastrous," he said.

Attorney for Saco-Loewell in Biddeford Threatens to Sue City

BIDDEFORD, Me., Oct. 11.—Efforts to apprehend the person who shot Herman Steinback, a replacement moulder in the Saco-Loewell foundry, Tuesday night, have not been successful. It is believed he will recover. The Saco-Loewell company has offered $1000 for the arrest and conviction of the assailant.

Judge George L. Emery, attorney for the Saco-Loewell mill, said last night that unless replacement moulder is permitted to go to and from their work unmolested he may bring suit against the city of Biddeford for $100,000 and against the Moulders' union for confining to interfere with the business of the company. He notified Chief of Police Robbins last night that unless he preserved law and order a request would be forwarded to Gov. Baxter to send militia here to afford protection to the replacement men. County Attorney E. E. Thromb and Sheriff H. A. Roberts of Sanford are here to investigate the shooting.

MATRIMONIAL

A charming October wedding was held in the rectory of St. Michael's church Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, when Miss Margaret K. Tobin and Mr. Michael J. Rogers were united in marriage by Rev. James F. Lynch. Miss Winifred V. Mullin was the maid of honor and Mr. John T. Rogers acted as best man. The flower girl was little Alma Margaret Tobin of Bayonne, N. J. The bride was becomingly attired in a dress of liberty, crepe de chine and veil caught up with cream blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid wore a yellow Egyptian crepe with a yellow and silver picture hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The bride is a popular employee of the Ray State mills where she is the secretary of the Ray State Social club, and was a member of the 101st auxiliary during the war. The groom is a World War veteran and is employed as a meter inspector by the Lowell water works. Two brides present to the bridegroom was a yellow sapphire ring and to her flower girl she gave a silver mesh bag. The groom's present to his best man was a gold watch chain.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at 17 Third street. The ushers were Francis F. Rogers, James A. Rogers, John B. Doyle, Joseph Tobin, T. James Tobin of Bayonne, N. J., and Arthur Brown of Adams, Mass. Entertaining music was furnished by the Dion sisters, Raymond Kelly, John Doyle, Sadie Sheehan, Margaret Plangan and Mr. and Mrs. Rind's orchestra. The Misses Alma Tobin, Mary Carey, and Claire Rogers danced for the gathering and Mr. Charles Nichols played for all to join in the singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers left at 8:45 for an extended wedding tour to include New York and Philadelphia, and after their return about Nov. 1, will be at home to friends at 11 Third street.

COUNSEL CLASH AT DIVORCE TRIAL

Had Testified That He Saw Mrs. Stokes at Home of Edgar A. Wallace

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Acting District Attorney Ferdinand Pecora will appear on Monday to refute charges directed at his office by Joseph A. Thornton, who during yesterday's session of the re-trial of the divorce action of W. E. D. Stokes, wealthy hotel owner, asserted that an attempt had been made to influence his testimony. The assertion of Thornton, a negro and former janitor of an East 35th street apartment house, where Edgar A. Wallace, chief correspondent, lived, indirectly led to a flare-up between opposing counsel.

Thornton, a witness for Mr. Stokes, precipitated the tilt when he said that during the previous trial of the case, at which he identified Mrs. Stokes as the woman he had seen at the East 35th street address, he received a subpoena to appear before the district attorney and subsequently was questioned by Stanley I. Richter, then an assistant district attorney, who is son-in-law of Samuel Untermyer, chief counsel for Mrs. Stokes, Ferdinand Pecora also a former assistant district attorney and now civil service commissioner and finally by Mr. Pecora.

"We went down to Mr. Pecora's office," the witness said, "and Mr. Morton says 'Here's Thornton.' He's a tough proposition. He still swears he saw Mrs. Stokes go into that apartment. I can't get it out of him. He really believes he saw her."

The witness declared then that Mr. Pecora said: "You can say that you might be mistaken; that she wasn't the one; that it might have been someone else. There is no need of your getting into trouble for Mr. Stokes. The easiest way is the best way; that you might be mistaken; that she is not the party."

Mr. Morton, according to the witness said: "Mrs. Stokes might have gone to Mr. Wallace's apartment. I don't know anything about it but you can say that you might be mistaken; that she is not the woman."

At this juncture, Mr. Untermyer abruptly arose and said the district attorney's office should be advised.

"This man should be committed for perjury," he thundered.

Max De Stuer, of counsel for Mr. Stokes retorted:

"This is the cheapest thing I've ever witnessed and I'm surprised at you."

Mr. Untermyer's remarks were drowned in the uproar which followed, but Mr. De Stuer continued:

"That's all you can do; use public officers that way. At any rate, I didn't use my son-in-law."

Activity in the Stokes case shifted today to Missouri, where Mrs. Stokes has gone with counsel to hunt witnesses in an attempt to disprove testimony that she was seen with Wallace in Roomville and Runcleton, Mo., in 1904, when, she declares, she was attending school in Washington, D. C., and did not know the man.

FOUR PRISONERS SHOT AND CLUBBED INTO SUBMISSION WHEN THEY TRIED TO ESCAPE

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Oct. 12.—Four prisoners, two of them considered dangerous, were shot and clubbed into submission when they attempted to escape from the stone quarry at the United States disciplinary barracks at Fort Leavenworth yesterday. ## Boys of '98 (Continued)

Reminiscences among themselves and comrades of Gen. Adelbert Ames Camp, S. W. V., who also mobilized there, they walked to the depot. Two special coaches were attached to regular down train of the White Mountain division which brought them to Boston.

Members of Company M departed by truck, leaving earlier than their comrades who preferred rail transportation. The get-together at the army provided an auspicious start for what promised to be a memorable day. Many old comrades of the days of '98 met for the first time in years. Even to those who meet daily there was a certain charm to the gathering for it provided the atmosphere lacking in daily business or social contact.

General Pearson met all hands together for a group picture in the army steps before the start to Boston was made. To all it brought back remembrances of day, twenty-five years ago this month, when the Lowell companies returned home from Federal duty.

The group of men today, mostly in civies, well groomed, many ex-officers, all looking the picture of care-free, happy, prosperous American business men, presented a strong contrast to the grizzled, bronzed, athletic groups of American youths who with rhythmic tread a quarter of a century ago returned to Lowell, to peace, happiness, and contentment.

Of the number that marched through Lowell streets a quarter of a century ago this month a greater number than those which assembled today have stood their last formation. In the cemeteries of Lowell today there are marked graves of 125 Spanish war veterans. Some of course were not members of the Lowell companies of the old Sixth regiment but the majority were. The number of veterans buried here not men-

Body of Miss Estelle Phillips of New York Found Bound and Gagged

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The body of Miss Estelle Phillips, an attractive department store saleswoman, was found bound and gagged early today in her West 95th street furnished room.

A man described to the police as the son of a Montreal minister was sought for questioning after Dr. Benjamin Schwartz, acting chief medical examiner, reported that death was caused by strangulation and that the murder apparently was the work of a degenerate.

Parts of the body were mutilated, police said. A small towel, knotted around the throat, concealed fingerprints. An open handbag containing four pennies lay at the woman's feet and a bureau drawer was open when another roomer entered the room to arouse Miss Phillips at 7 o'clock and found the body on the floor.

Dr. Schwartz ordered an immediate autopsy.

Ford Assailed Weeks for Action in Sale of One of Muscle Shoals Plant

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Secretary Weeks carried into today's cabinet meeting the statement issued in Detroit last night by Henry Ford, assailing the war secretary for his action in the sale of the Gorgas Steam Power plant—a part of the Muscle Shoals, Ala., properties—to the Alabama Power Co.

Mr. Weeks, prior to the cabinet meeting, refused all requests for comment on the statement in which Mr. Ford declared that political influence working through the war secretary had prevented him from obtaining the Muscle Shoals properties and would continue to prevent his acquisition of the Alabama plant.

Officials close to Mr. Weeks indicated that he resented the statement of the Detroit manufacturer and considered it sufficiently grave to take up directly with the president.

Mr. Coolidge is known to be thoroughly in accord with the action taken by the war department in selling the Gorgas plant to the Alabama Power Co. for $3,472,488. The position of the president is that Mr. Ford be given every opportunity to buy and lease the Muscle Shoals property and that his offer, still before congress, has not been affected by the sale of Gorgas project.

ROAD DISAPPEARS

LUNENBURG, Oct. 12.—The Pitreum disappearing road, parts of which have been sinking into quagmire 40 feet below the street level since Labor day, is still a mystery. Tons and tons of rock and gravel have been dumped into the earthen in the new section of state highway, yet as fast as the material has been dumped there it goes down out of sight.

A section of a bank, which had been braced, caved in and engineers, employed by the state highway department and contractors are unable to determine what is underneath the road.

When the danger was over and the fire which caused a damage of $5000, burning out the entire top tenement and jumping through the roof, was extinguished, Mrs. Blott fell into a swoon but was soon revived.

Series Game.

TODAY'S WINNING PITCHER

ARTHUR NEHF, GIANTS

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct.
12. (By the Associated Press.)—Old Casey, Stengel bloomed forth a hero again today. With a home run smash off Sad Sam Jones, he scored the only run of the contest and the Giants walked off the field victorious, 1 to 0 in the third world series game. Both Nehf and Jones pitched airtight ball.
A record crowd saw the contest.

Lured by the call of the mighty bat of Babe Ruth, coasted on by the knowledge that at least a New York Yankee team could stand toe to toe and take it with a New York Giant outfit, the town passed from the semilethargic condition in which it has viewed previous installments of the fratricidal strife and went baseball mad.

In the two previous games, neither the great Yankee Stadium, nor the imposing Polo Grounds was filled.
The bugs came to see a superb team —in the Giants—function with precision and a mighty hero—Babe Ruth —go down to ignominious failure.

The fans came and saw. But they had seen before the smooth functioning of the National League, of Manager McGraw directing his team to victory and they had seen the illustrious Bambino grow as he struck out or pop-flied to the infield.

But they had not seen two great teams fighting neck and neck, now with a deft rapier-like lunge, again with a blazing scorch. Then the word went out last night that Babe Ruth finally had arrived as a ball-punching world's series hitter and that the series stood at a dead heat, the fans caught on.
They grasped the old world's series excitement, the tang, the blood-tingling that the older renewals of the October classic had inspired.

So today they came on. The 12 policemen who spent all of Wednesday night guarding a lone bleacherite who wanted to be sure to get into the Polo Grounds yesterday had to call for help.
At 9 o'clock this morning there was a long line outside the Yankee Stadium that had been gathering throughout the night, and when the bleacher gates opened there was a wild surge. At 12 o'clock the bleacher gates were closed and thousands who stood in line abreast outside edged up for the higher priced seats of the grandstand.

and the club doctor was called to at-

was lifted to his feet and walked to the bench limping badly. The doctor had swathed his injured ankle in bandages. Play has resumed. Schanz

Frisch. Scott scratched an infield hit.
Jones hit into a double play. Frisch to Baneroff to Kelly. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning
Giants: Nehf grounded out to Pipp. unassisted. Baneroff got a base on balls. Groh fouled out to Dugan.
Frisch singled into right. Baneroff going to second. Ward threw out Young, making a nice play of it. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Yankees: Groh threw out Witt. Dugan flied out to Young. Ruth struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning
Giants: Meusel flied out to his brother. Stengel scored on a home run into the right field stand. It was his second home run of the series. Kelly flied out to Meusel. Ward tossed out Snyder.

One run, one hit, no errors.

Yankees: Meusel flied out to Young.
Pipp got a base on balls. Ward forced Pipp. Nehf to Baneroff to Frisch. Pipp slid into the bag and turned his injured ankle. He rolled over on the ground and the club doctor was called to attend him, the game being halted. Pipp was lifted to his feet and walked to the bench limping badly. The doctor had swathed his injured ankle in bandages. Play has resumed. Schanz singled into left. Ward going to second.
Groh took Scott's grounder and touched third. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Eighth Inning
Giants: Ruth went to first base in place of Pipp and Haines went into right field. Nehf singled into left. Baneroff struck out. Groh fanned. Jones tossed out Frisch. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Yankees: Hoffman batted for Jones.
Hoffman popped to Frisch. Witt got a single through the box. Dugan forced Witt. Groh to Frisch. Ruth walked.
Meusel flied out to Stengel. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Ninth Inning
Giants: Rush went into the box for the Yankees. Meusel took Young's foul.
Meusel sent up a high fly to Scott. Ruth took Stengel's grounder and touched first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankees: Groh threw out Haines.
Ward fanned. The third strike was called on Ward and the Yankees made a vicious kick, presumably because they claimed Snyder had been guilty of batting. Umpire Nallin would not attend the claim, and ordered the Yankees to the bench. Groh threw out Schanz at first.

Final score: Giants 1, Yankees 0.

BLAMES TAXATION FOR HIGH CAR FARES

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 12. (By the A. P.)—Municipal, state and federal officials were vigorously assailed for their extravagance in a special tax report made today to the American Electric Railway convention here. William H. Maltbie, of Baltimore, is chairman of the committee making it.

The report declared that owing to governmental extravagance, in part, every workingman in the United States is paying an average tax of 34 a year which is hidden in his car fare. This is about two-thirds of a cent out of every fare.

"One of the most serious problems of the day is that of municipal, state and federal extravagance," the report said. "The check upon public extravagance is to be found only in a demand on the part of the public for economy, and one of the first and most important steps in the development of this public demand is the elimination of indirect taxation. Approximately 10 per cent of the gross receipts of the street car companies of the United States is devoted to some form of public burden. The average fare at the present time is 5.92 cents so an average of nearly two-thirds of a cent out of every street car fare collected in the United States is an indirect tax upon the street car users for the benefit of the general public.

"The average workman riding to and from his work 800 days in the year pays in this one item an indirect tax of approximately 44.

"If this indirect tax and other numerous indirect taxes which he pays could be bundled together with the relatively small direct tax which he is called upon to meet, labelled, and known to him as a tax, we would find a pressure for public economy making itself evident at the polls in unmistakable fashion.

Among the "olesters" taxes pointed out by the committee is one for paving between car tracks which had its inception in horse car days when the animals hoofs destroyed cedar block pavements between the rails.

Car riders do not realize, the report declared, that state and federal bodies which fix the car fares of the country, figure all of these taxes in when arriving at a fair fare.

DISCUSSION OF NEW STREET LIGHTING

The board of public service met yesterday afternoon in routine session, spending most of its time in a discussion of new street lighting.

Lighting for the new Lundberg street bridge again came up and Councilor Thomas McFadden appeared before the board urging speedy action. Percy J. Wilson, representing the Lowell Electric Light Corp., was present to explain the special type of light to be used on the bridge, of which there will be six. He was asked to prepare an estimate of cost for presentation to the board at its next meeting.

The question of better illumination at the junction of Chelmsford and Thorndike streets and spotlights for traffic posts downtown also were referred to Mr. Wilson for investigation and report.

Two conferences were arranged for next Thursday afternoon. The first, at 4 o'clock, will be with representatives of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. and representatives of the Loos and Canals for the purpose of discussing where the responsibility lies for repairing streets that cross canals. ## A. F. OF L. DELEGATES TO ELECT OFFICERS TODAY

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 12. (By the Associated Press.)—Election of officers and selection of the next convention city was today's principal business of the American Federation of Labor.

El Paso and Detroit were the principal contenders for the next convention. Samuel Gompers, who has headed the federation since its organization in 1881, except during one year, was declared by delegates generally to be certain of re-election and other officers also were expected to be retained.

The convention has straightened a dispute between the quarry workers union and the union of stationary engineers employed in quarries, upholding the contention of the engineers' union for separate jurisdiction. This dispute arose as a result of a strike at Barre, Vt., and Concord, N. H.

A group of resolutions favoring remedial legislation asked by unions of government employees was approved.

NEW BOY SCOUT TROUP

Last Wednesday night, in the vestry of the Grace Universalist church, Troop 17, Boy Scouts of America, was organized. Scoutmaster Roger W. Gage and Donald Hasmar, troop committee chairman, were in charge of the meeting, at which there were 21 boys present, seven of whom have been scouts and one of whom is a first class scout holding merit badge. The roster lacks 12 names to complete the quota and the troop expects to have these by the next meeting on Monday night.

HELD DANCING PARTY

An informal dancing party was held last night at the Highland club under the auspices of the Stratforda and over 150 couples attended. Dancing started at 8.30 o'clock and continued until 1 a. m. to the strains of Wreck's orchestra of Cambridge. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Edward J. Tivnan and Walter Connors.

KNIGHTS RETURNING FROM ST. PETER'S CHURCH

The Lowell Knights of Columbus, with a large representation, formally observed the discovery of America by the renowned patron of their organization by attending mass in St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock this morning. Assembling at the council rooms in Dutton street at 8:30 o'clock, the members were assigned their places in parade formation and marched down Merrimack street, to Central, to Gorham and to the church, while the Lowell Cadet band rendered selective march music. Frank J. Minnegan, worthy varden of Lowell council, led the parade.

The high mass was celebrated by Rev. Daniel J. Jefferson, chaplain. Besides the K. of C. delegation, several hundred parishioners were in attendance. St. Peter's choir, under the direction of Rev. Peter T. Linehan, sang the mass of St. John, the apostle.

RECORD CROWD AT THE BUTLER-CADET GAME

One of the largest crowds that ever turned out for an athletic event in this vicinity assembled at Alumni Field, formerly Spalding park, this afternoon for the championship battle between the rival Butler A.A. and O.M.L. Cadets eleven.

Those two aggregations met last year and the attendance shattered all previous marks but early this afternoon it was estimated that today's gathering was far in excess of that of a year ago.

The Butlers won the title last season and they entered the struggle today determined to repeat. The Cadets, with backs to the wall and with a greatly strengthened team, greeted their teeth prepared to fight to the last ounce of energy in an attempt to win the coveted honor.

To the winning team will be presented the Ricard trophy, emblematic of the city championship.

SWEDISH DIPLOMAT ACCUSED OF SPYING DENIES HIS GUILT

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 12. (By the A. P.)—Folke Cronholm, Swedish charge d'affaires in Mexico City in 1917, who is credited with having acted in the interests of Germany in the passages of important notes in the early part of the war, has given out a statement in which he denies his guilt. He declares he did not play the spy for Germany during the war, but that in delivering cablegrams in code to the German legation in Mexico he was acting upon the instructions of his superior, K. A. Wallenberg, then Swedish minister of foreign affairs.

Mr. Cronholm's statement says in part: "Upon my return home I learned of the false rumor that I, as Swedish charge d'affaires in Mexico, was guilty of acting as a spy for Germany during the war, and that as a result I was recalled from my post."

"Referring to this latter allegation, which is ridiculous and false, I have already declared publicly that my alleged relations with the German government had nothing to do with my recall."

"As to the charge that in Mexico I acted as a German spy, I declare that the only cause for these rumors and accusations is to be found in that I, as later did also my successor, in obedience to orders from my superior, K. A. Wallenberg, then Swedish minister of foreign affairs, delivered a number of cablegrams received from him and written in a secret code of which I had no knowledge. Responsibility in this case, which led to such disastrous consequences for Sweden, rests upon Mr. Wallenberg and not upon me, his agent."

"My purpose today, on my return home, is to free myself of these suspicions. I stand accused of having acted as a German spy during the war, while chief of the Swedish legation in Mexico City, and during my confinement in Mexico I had no chance to rehabilitate myself."

"Such were my relations to the German legation in Mexico during the war. My notes in the archives of the Swedish legation in Mexico City record the receipt of these cablegrams from Mr. Wallenberg."

"My recall as Swedish charge d'affaires at Mexico City was not the result of complaints made by the Swedish residents of Mexico. Such complaints, even if justified, do not entail the sudden recall of a chief of legation without his knowledge. The Swedes in Mexico made no complaints of me because there were none to be made. The foreign minister has told me no complaints were made."

"Nor did my recall result from any kind of pressure on the part of the American government owing to any relations with the German government. I never have had relations with any government other than the Swedish government. Nor did I transmit to President Carranza any notes other than those I handed him in the name of my own government, officially or by special order."

"My recall from Mexico was an act of revenge on the part of the then foreign minister, Mr. Wallenberg, because a report made by me and other diplomats several years ago resulted in his brother, G. O. Wallenberg, then Swedish minister to Japan, being publicly reprimanded by his government."

"The state department at Washington, on Sept. 13, 1917, gave out the translation of an alleged letter from Heinrich von Eckhardt, then German minister at Mexico City, to Chancellor von Bethmann Hollweg, saying that Cronholm, in Mexico City, had entered into close relations with the German legation; that he was the only diplomat through whom information of 'hostile camps' could be obtained; that he acted as an intermediary for official diplomatic intercourse between the German legation and the chancellor and recommending that he be given a German decoration."

Von Eckhardt immediately denied from Mexico City that he had ever sent communications through Cronholm, or recommended him for a decoration, and on Sept. 20 Cronholm, in the same city, denied von Eckhardt had offered him a decoration, or that he had ever furnished von Eckhardt information gathered among the enemies of his country in Mexico.

Dispatches last October said Cronholm had returned to the Swedish capital from Mexico and was engaged in preparing a defense of his alleged actions in Mexico.

When Mme. Jeritza sings here in the Auditorium October 24 music lovers will have an opportunity of viewing in person the woman who is declared to be the most beautiful prima donna alive. They will also have the opportunity of hearing a voice which has caused the cautious and conservative critics of the New York daily papers to go into ecstasies and use superlative phraseology which has remained out of their vocabularies for many years.

JERITZA IS GOLDEN VOICED SOPRANO

María Jeritza, the golden voiced soprano of the Metropolitan, whose sensational rise to stardom in one night at that opera house has been the talk of the musical world ever since last November, will make her first concert tour of four cities this month, under the direction of the Metropolitan musical bureau, the great concert agency which was exclusive manager of Caruso.

When Mme. Jeritza sings here in the Auditorium October 24 music lovers will have an opportunity of viewing in person the woman who is declared to be the most beautiful prima donna alive. They will also have the opportunity of hearing a voice which has caused the cautious and conservative critics of the New York daily papers to go into ecstasies and use superlative phraseology which has remained out of their vocabularies for many years.

1923 and 1924 Winter Woolens

OLD TIME FABRICS

WOOD MILL WORSTEDS

Of Lawrence, Mass.

These goods bought two weeks ago direct from the commission house of Frize & Co., Summer Street, Boston, Mass., lower in price than anything I have seen in six years, lower in price than any buyer of woolens can purchase them a month from today.

No other tailor or clothier in New England today can talk about an all wool and worsted BLUE SERGE suiting this weight under $35.00; and I contend these fabrics compare very favorably for weight and quality of merchandise with suits selling around $40.

For a limited time the merchandise offered in this fall display is very exceptional; a small deposit is all that is necessary now—the balance when you need the garment. Many of these bolts are now displayed in my windows, around eighty yards in each piece. Be sure and see them, for this is an opportunity to effect a very considerable saving.

There are the new Blanket Backs, Kerseys, Meltons, Oxfords, Boucles, shaggy effects and many other weaves in a vast assortment of up-to-the-minute shades and patterns. I will tailor your choice into any style you please; fit will be guaranteed.

Incidental to this sale I also wish to formally invite my customers and the general public to visit my store and see the new overcoat styles that the fashion experts and leading designers declare are correct and proper for this season.

I will have on display eighty-five ready-to-wear garments just completed in my own workshop. Made in the latest models for this season. In these special samples are coats for the young sporty man and garments for the conservative dresser. I make these up in the dull months of August and September. I use them for window display, or you can purchase any one of these garments at any time when you cannot wait to have a garment made. I find them most convenient when a customer is in doubt as to what style coat would please him best. He tries on the different models, tells the designer which one he likes, and we cut him the garment he wants. No obligation to buy—we will be glad to give you any information you may desire.

ALL NIGHT PARTY IN COLONIAL HALL

A costume party was held last night and this morning in Colonial hall by the Lowell division, National Fraternal Society of the Deaf, and was featured by a drawing contest in which the prizes were several valuable gold articles.

Dancing was enjoyed until 1 o'clock this morning and the odd costumes worn by the participants added color to the scene. At 1 o'clock supper was served and from 2 o'clock until 5 o'clock this morning games were played.

Many visitors from out-of-town were present and they remained in town to stay after the close of the party as guests of the local members.

The winners in the drawing contest were as follows: James Gill of Ludlum street, first; W. Carpenter, 52 Fay street, second; Leon Coolens, 30 Alken avenue, third; W. Maron, Fitchburg, fourth; Philippe David, 49 Kirk street, fifth; E. Russell, Lawrence, sixth; W. Bradley, Gorham street, seventh, and George Curtis, 421 Bridge street, eighth.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Colin C. McCard, chairman; J. Bennett McMahon, Myles C. McGeever and Frank D. Williams.

C. M. A. C. TO CONDUCT CONCERT AND DANCE DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

In an endeavor to double its membership the C.M.A.C. will next Tuesday start a membership campaign. To last six months a general committee has been appointed to make arrangements for the drive and will report at next Tuesday's meeting of the organization. As an inducement to members the society is offering prizes in the form of a trip to Montreal, the conditions being that each member who brings in thirty applications will be entitled to a trip to the Canadian metropolis at the expense of the association. The society now numbers about 1500 members and it is hoped before the campaign is brought to a close that number will at least be doubled. The chairman of the general committee is William Trotter. The committee will meet in the near future and will appoint team captains to conduct the drive. Arrangements are now being made at the C.M.A.C. for the organization of a bowling league and at a meeting to be held next week teams will be formed and captains appointed. It is expected the bowling season will open in the early part of November.

LOWELL SOLONS VISIT BROTHER COUNCILOR

Several members of the city council today took the opportunity afforded by the holiday to go to Manchester to visit Councilor J. A. N. Chretien at the Sacred Heart hospital. The councilor continues to improve, but will not be able to return home for another week or more.

While in the New Hampshire city this afternoon the visiting councilors plan to drop over and give a few cheers for the high school football eleven in its hard game against Manchester high.

SAY FRENCH IMPEDING RESUMPTION OF WORK

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press)—An official telegram from Essen to the effect that contrary to French reports, labor leaders and the population generally are deeply concerned about the situation in the Ruhr. The opinion is said to prevail in well informed quarters, that the French policy of negotiating with individual groups is impeding the resumption of work.

If the economic life of the occupied region is to be resumed, the statement asserts, both Germany and France must do their utmost to avoid causes of further disturbance.

The political situation is still in a state of extreme uncertainty. With the final vote on Chancellor Stresemann's authorization law postponed until Saturday, the coalition ministry faces another crisis. For should the measure fail, as seems possible, the cabinet would doubtless be forced out.

SULLIVAN FUND PASSES THE $2000 MARK

The Sullivan home-coming fund has gone over the $2000 mark. Yesterday's mail at the chamber of commerce brought checks for $10 from James B. Sullivan and for $25 from Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor of St. Michael's church.

The total of the fund is now $2012.09 and persons intending to subscribe who have not already done so are asked to send in their donations at once. It is hoped to have $2000 to make a purse for the Lowell man who swam the English channel after expenses incidental to the reception are met.

A check for $10 from the Boston Auto Supply Co. was received in the early mail this morning.

TWO WOMEN AND MAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

GRAFTON, Oct. 12.—Two women and one man were killed and another man was slightly injured on the Providence road here last night, when the light touring car in which they were riding from Milbury to their homes in Worcester, swerved from the road, crashed into a tree and was hurled into a lumber pile 12 feet away. The dead are James Ryan, Pleasant street, Worcester; his wife, Alice, and Mrs. Cornelius Sullivan, 18 Chandler street, Worcester. The injured man is Cornelius Sullivan.

All were thrown from the car. Ryan landed 15 feet away and his neck was broken. Although the car was owned by Sullivan, Ryan was believed to have been driving when the accident occurred. Sullivan sustained only minor bruises and although dazed by the tragedy, identified the victims and said that the two couples had taken a ride to Milbury in the wreckage of the car was found a package containing a new suit for one of Ryan's three children, now motherless.

The impact of the crash tore the whole body from the chassis of the automobile.

"GREAT OAKS FROM LITTLE ACORNS GROW"

"Start with a coin—end with a barrel of money," is the small but significant inscription on a miniature "barrel" bank to be donated to depositors in the Middlesex National bank, beginning tomorrow. A special allotment of the little safe deposit boxes—a perfect metal reproduction of a barrel—arrived at the Middlesex National bank this week and caused a great deal of favorable comment among the employees. All denominations of coins may be placed in the little bank. A special contraption in the interior of the instrument, similar to combinations on larger safes, renders it impossible of opening without the use of a key. It is ornamental as well as useful.

Firmly believing in the encouragement of thrift, officials of the Middlesex National went to great expense to secure the unique design, which is bound to make a hit with the savers for a rainy day. To come into possession of the barrel all one has to do is open an account at the bank tomorrow or on succeeding days. The barrel will then be given with a receipt for spare change—an exceedingly thrifty idea in these days.

When the barrel is filled, the owner may bring it to the bank at the corner of Merrimack and Palmer streets and deposit the contents. It is absolutely impossible to open the barrel without the use of the key and no one but attendants at the bank have the keys—another example of the "strength, security, service," slogan of the Middlesex National.

Scientists have dug up proof that lions and tigers once lived in Europe.

MAN HELD IN DEATH CASE REFUSES TO TALK

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—Two days of constant questioning, has failed to break the reticence of Ernest Facondia, the youth held here charged with suspicion of murder in the death of Emma Dickson.

Milville, N. J., high school girl, whose body was found in the woods near her home on September 22, nine days after she disappeared. Detectives conducting the examination said today the prisoner had given them but little information in addition to admitting having witnessed the killing of the girl along the highway in South Jersey. He refused, the detectives said, to answer any questions as to how she was slain or to say whether one or more persons had a hand in it. He declares, however, that he did not know the slayer.

TWO FOUND GUILTY IN AUTO THEFT CASE

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—John J. Koffler of New York and Louis Schwartz of Boston, were found guilty by a federal court jury early today, of conspiracy to transport stolen automobiles. John J. Silverman and Abraham Elpert, both of Boston, who were tried with them, were acquitted. Sentence of Koffler and Schwartz was deferred.

The government charged that Koffler obtained possession of high priced automobiles stolen in New York or Philadelphia and had them driven to Hartford, where mechanical changes were made and the cars were then brought to this city and sold.

BUCKINGHAM PALACE IS CALLED A FIRETRAP

land. The British public is alarmed at the possible danger to the royal family while in residence in the palace, for a fire during one of the brilliant court nights, when thousands of guests are at the palace, could easily result in a holocaust.

Though royalty itself may often be insignificant, royal residences rarely are, and Buckingham palace, as far as outward appearances go, is no exception. Each year thousands of tourists gaze in wonder and admiration on the imposing stone facade of the palace, one of the architectural sights of the British capital. Few of them know the palace front is a shell hiding an older building. It is like a beautifully decorated theatre fire curtain which separates the people from the stage settings of a royal court.

Behind the palace front is a maze of royal reception rooms, banqueting halls and living quarters for the royal family, and its retinue of retainers, court officials and servants. These quarters are separated by inflammable partitions and linked by a labyrinth of drafty hallways and a network of old fashioned electric wiring and heating installations.

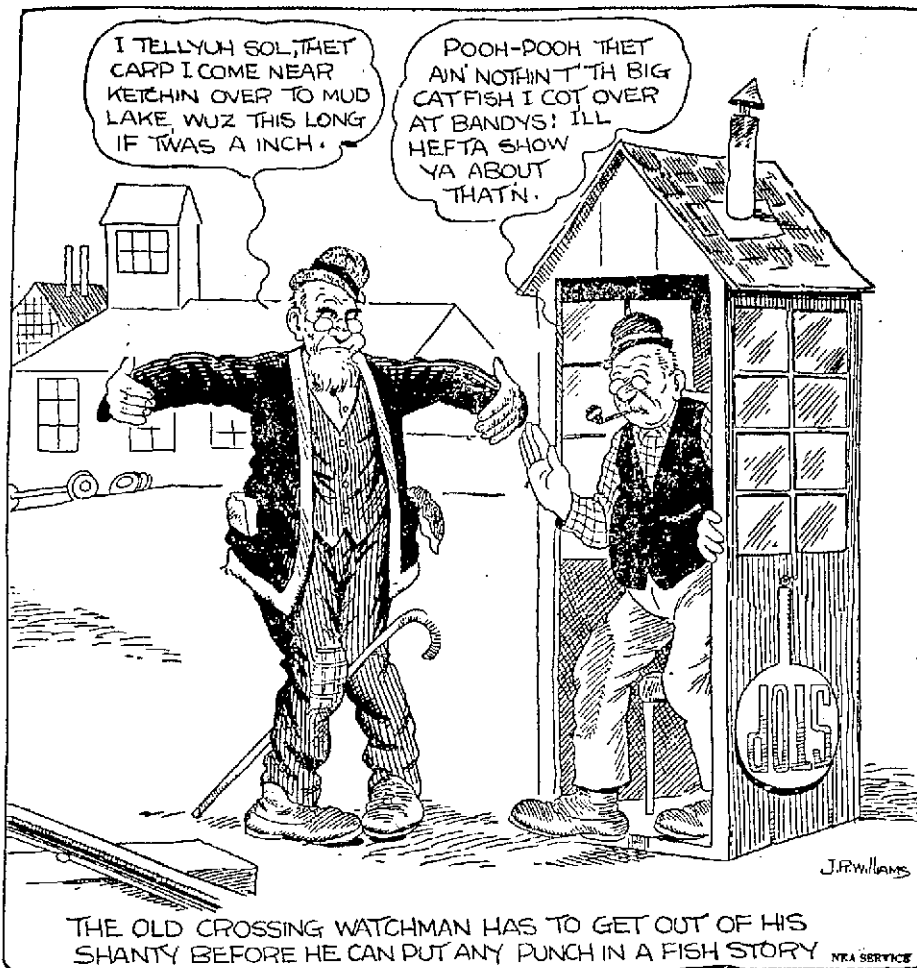

Despite the fire risks, no English government buildings are even insured, no matter what may be their value or that of their contents. During the year ended December, 1920, the commission reports, 21 fires occurred in government buildings, eight of them being attributed to short circuits due to defects in old electrical installations. Buckingham palace is only one of London's historic buildings open to fire risks because of the nature of its construction. Somerset house, depository of priceless documents, is another. This building is a source of great anxiety to the government, according to the report of the commission on fire prevention. Many precautions are taken against fires in Buckingham palace. Somerset house, the houses of parliament and other government buildings. There are continual patrols of night watchmen, many of whom are trained firemen. Servants and officials of all classes receive instruction in the use of fire extinguishers. Government officials exploit the lack of insurance by saying that in many cases, such as the house of parliament, it would be impossible to estimate their value for insurance purposes.

16TH CENTURY PRINTERS EXPERT CRAFTSMEN

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Saved for posterity through the efforts of a legion of rare book fanciers who vie for their possession, numerous examples of that most famous sixteenth century contribution to the publisher's art, the Aldine Press, are finding their way in increasing numbers to the protecting shelves of the Newberry library here. They are staunch testimonials to the one-time cheapness of fine literary works.

For this is one of the chief characteristics of these old volumes, according to Dr. Pierce Butler, rare book custodian of the Newberry library, who says that many products of the Aldine Press were published in form that rivals that of the best of the twentieth century has to offer and sold at the astonishing price of two shillings.

The Aldine Press was established by Aldus Manutius in Venice in 1493, shortly after the invention of printing. The firm was continued for nearly 75 years, first by his son and then his grandson, after the death of the founder. Some 305 works were produced in this time, of which samples of almost 100 are in the Newberry collection. Aldus specialized in works of Greek and Latin men of literary genius.

Almost as soon as published, the Aldine works were recognized as of unusual merit, according to Dr. Butler. Down through the years these rare volumes have gained increasing popularity, especially those turned out in extra fine workmanship.

SPINAL CURVATURE IN CHILDREN

In thousands of homes little attention is given by parents to the correct carriage and posture of their children.

Your children need careful supervision from infancy and childhood, through youth and the days of growth and development.

Teach them the health game of "straight back." Do not allow a careless, slouching position at meal time. During the "inching" period after meals, see that a sitting or reclining posture in one that does not interfere with the health game of spinal control.

If your children are growing rapidly and seem to lack muscular control of the back and erect carriage from the hips, watch them for the prevention of slump and slouch or bowed-out back.

Proper seating, both in the home and at the school, play a most important part in preventing spinal curvature. Proper muscular control is quite necessary to effect the well-balanced carriage and position of erectness, which insure a "straight back" and health.

Walk, stand and sit erect, with your head up. Draw in the abdominal muscles in walking and deep breathing. Fill your lungs when you breathe, throw back the shoulders. Do these things every day and spinal curvature will not come your way.

Remove Dandruff

Then you will know true hair beauty. Dandruff cannot exist on a clean scalp and Gouard's Oriental Coconut Oil Shampoo cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. It stimulates the natural hair oils into greater activity, helping to give the roots a vigorous, healthy growth that combats disease and takes away the dead, dry look. Delightfully perfumed. Use it consistently.

Poppy Lady Suggests Taps
Soldier

(By N.E.A. Service)
ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 12.—A bugle to blow taps over the grave of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington cemetery at sunset each day.
This is the suggestion of Miss Meina Michael of this city, known as the "Poppy Lady," as a tribute to those who sleep in "Flanders Fields."

Miss Michael was the first person to suggest the poppy as a war memorial flower—hence her nickname, or non du guerre. She has been an honor guest of all the national conventions of the American Legion and will be on deck when the "boys" convene in San Francisco.
She is the author of "We Shall Keep Faith," an answer to Colonel McRae's "Flanders Fields."

FIRST WIFE'S GEMS

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Wilhelm Hohenzollern is raising money by the sale of some of the jewels belonging to his first wife and by the sale of several pictures. Pictures by French masters, and certain Hohenzollern portraits have been disposed of through a Dutch firm and a number of old Dutch and German paintings will be brought into the market shortly.
Some of the late empress's jewels, including a beautiful pearl necklace, were sold through a Cologne jeweler. Some time ago a number of French Gobelines, tapestries and ancient furniture were sold privately to Americans and the proceeds used for the purchase of Dutch funds.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents)

MERRIMACK SQUARE

Some of the most talented and widely known players on the screen appear in Paramount's new picture, "Salomy Jane," a George Melford production based on the famous story by Bret Harte, which is the feature at the Merrimack Square Theatre today and tomorrow.

Jacqueline Logan, a former Follies girl, plays the name role. Her love of the great out-of-doors particularly adapted her for this photoplay of pioneer life in California in the days of '49. Many human touches of quaint humor are woven into the fabric of this romantic screen play by George Fawcett, who plays the role of "Yuba Hill," a stage-coach driver.

Maurice Flynn, Yale graduate and college athlete, takes the part of "The Man," a stranger in the little mining settlement whose mission is unknown and who in a scene of gripping tragedy becomes the sweetheart of Salomy Jane.

The second feature for the second part of the week is "Soul of the Beast," a thrilling animal story with an excellent cast.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

If ever Lowell theatregoers got their money's worth it is this week at the Opera House for "The Exciters," which is the attraction there this week. It is a combination of everything that makes a show entertaining. There is all kinds of excitement, plenty of good love interest and not a little comedy as a sideline, all blended in a manner that makes "The Exciters" in a class by itself. Every member of the large cast is good. Vic Browne is at his best as the smooth and slick crook, Edna Earl Andrews as his confederate is thoroughly perfect, Hazel Corning as the little peppy "Rufus" land, who craves for excitement and gets it, is as always right at home in the part and splendid; Georgia Neese as "Rufus" mother, gives some clever acting; John Howe has a sure foot that causes all kinds of laughter; Malcolm MacLeod as the "about to be married man" is exceptionally capable; Frank Ferrara, William Thompson, Fred Woodbury and Mary Keating, all add to the attractiveness of the show.

Next week, "Wild Oats Lane" will be the attraction.

NEW JEWEL THEATRE

"Ever-Lastingly Exciting" describes "Tava," the wonder-production coming at the New Jewel theatre this week-end. Nothing like it has been offered to the screen this season. A cast of prominent stars are included in the production. Estelle Taylor, Forrest Stanley, ex-Opera House leading man of Lowell, Wallace Beery and Sylvia Dwyer are among the biggest players cast in this new film drama. It relates a vivid, nerve tingling drama of the Russian revolution, in which Wallace Beery especially excels in the role of a Russian Red leader. To describe fully this remarkable drama is an irksome task, so well let patrons of the Jewel judge its worth for themselves. Final story of the new "Leather Pushers" series, another episode of "Speed" the serial, and other short novelties will round out the show. "Tava" is a ten-act production, so you can rest assured of a full three hour show.

B. P. KETTER'S THEATRE
The balance of the acts on the B. P. Ketter theatre bill, this week, is exceptional, and there is practically everything of an entertaining nature on it. Julia Nash and C. H. O'Donnell in "Tava's" cast over one of the snappiest of one-act satires seen here in a long time. It is based on the current love of automobilizing, and particularly it stresses the husband trying

COLUMBUS DAY

This is Columbus Day, the anniversary of the discovery of the western continent by Christopher Columbus on October 12, 1492, just 431 years ago. Columbus set sail on his voyage of discovery on August 3 of the same year and despite the primitive character of his flotilla, the voyage was made in seventy days, from which is to be deducted the time spent at the Canary islands.

At the start of the voyage, Columbus gave his captains and pilots written instructions not to sail during the night after they had gone proceeded 700 leagues as he expected to find land before they had gone 750 leagues, or approximately 2250 miles. This shows how confident Columbus was of reaching land, and how closely he had computed the distance to be sailed before land should be reached. Mutiny followed when the crews found that they had sailed over 750 leagues and yet no land was in sight; but the firm faith of Columbus soon reassured the crews and in five days later land was sighted.

Thus was the new world discovered in a special expedition fitted out for the purpose. It has been claimed that St. Brendan, an Irish monk, had reached land on the western hemisphere in the sixth century, by sailing west from the Cape Verde islands, but he did not make known his discovery so as to attract the attention of the world. The same may be said of Leif Erikson, a Norwegian navigator, who was exiled to Greenland and later established colonies there. He is said to have visited the land now known as Labrador, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and Cape Breton island in the tenth century, but despite the claims of prior discovery of land west of the Atlantic, it remained for Columbus to lift the veil of ocean and to open wide the gateways of navigation to the western world.

To the king and queen of Spain is due the honor of having equipped Columbus for the expedition. It is recorded that Queen Isabella pledged her jewels to help raise the necessary funds to finance the hazardous undertaking.

It is marvelous what a rapid growth has resulted from the discovery made by Columbus in the space of 431 years. And if so great in less than 500 years, what will be the status of the United States and the other parts of the western continent 200 or 300 years hence? It is beyond the power of imagination to conceive of the growth and progress the nations of the new world will attain if they hold fast to the principles of free government, of justice and humanity as laid down in the Declaration of Independence and the constitution of the United States. But if on the contrary, they engage in internecine strife and deadly jealousies, then they can expect no other fate than what has overtaken Europe and that threatens eastern civilization, because many of the nations have largely cast off all the restraints imposed by the laws of God and abandoned allegiance to the laws made for the maintenance of justice and right between man and man and equally between rival nations contending for power and supremacy.

In all probability the time is not far distant when the countries of South America will unite under a federal government patterned after that of the United States and this, protected by the strict enforcement of the Monroe Doctrine, will strengthen the combined nations, prevent war and promote the general good. Thus it appears, that with the exception of Christmas and Easter, Columbus Day is one of the most significant holidays in the calendar.

AN EXCELLENT REPORT

It would be difficult to speak in adequate terms of praise of the report of the special committee appointed by the city council to investigate the needs of the city in reference to protection against fire.

The subject has been handled by this committee with a degree of expert skill, rarely shown by any set of investigators not entirely constituted of experts. Of course, this committee may be said to be so constituted in having as members, Mr. Safford, an engineer, for chairman; Chief Saunders of the fire department; Supt. Gardner of the water department; Robert J. Thomas, former superintendent of that department, and John S. Caldwell, engineer of the New England Insurance Exchange.

The committee deals first with water supply and the means of making it available through proper hydrants and with the necessary pressure throughout the city. This would require either a stand pipe or an increase in the elevation of the reservoir, which is what the committee recommends. Recommendations are made for retaining the highest efficiency in the fire department by general motorization and a drill tower and school for the training of fire fighting, muting the apparatus, scaling high buildings and other stunts that firemen often find necessary at fires.

The fire alarm system, in the opinion of the committee, should be housed in a fireproof building, something that has been suggested for years, and the alarm system should be modernized. The committee does not recommend the abandonment of the bell alarms, which some say are useless. But for these alarms, however, many accidents would result from the lack of the engines through crowded streets. The alarm system the people along the streets to get out of the way, and this they do very generally.

The fire prevention suggestions are all good and practical. They include a fire prevention bureau in the department, an annual clean up campaign, progress toward building construction which if not improved will meet the modern requirements of safety and afford ample protection to the occupants against the sudden spread of fires.

If the recommendations of this report be gradually carried out we shall soon see a reduction in the number of fires and in the amount of fire losses. That many changes are recommended does not indicate that the Lowell fire department is inefficient or not up to the standard of most other cities.

VETERANS' HOSPITALS

The announcement that Senator David I. Walsh will soon visit Arizona to inspect the treatment of tubercular war veterans in government hospitals in that state, brings out a story that has aroused all citizens who are endeavoring to have Uncle Sam do a little more than he has done for the suffering heroes of the World War in many sections of the country.

number of Massachusetts boys are included with those receiving treatment. Senator Ashurst of Arizona appealed to the Bay State senator to make the official investigation, declaring that the veterans are not being properly cared for in these hospitals. The veterans raised funds enough recently to send a delegation of three to Washington to protest to Ashurst, but the latter declared that neither the delegation nor he was able to obtain any satisfaction from the veterans' bureau.

Senator Walsh is a member of the special senate committee appointed to investigate the administration of the bureau when Col. Forbes was director, and Mr. Ashurst points out that a personal investigation by Senator Walsh would carry the weight of the committee's authority.

The complaint of the veterans is Ashurst's way of putting it—and relief that hospital facilities are generally poor—"Incredibly poor," is Mr. Ashurst's demand as soon as possible.

Senator Walsh's report upon his return from Arizona ought to make highly interesting reading if the conditions complained of are not alleviated or removed before his arrival.

NATURE STUDY

Dorothy Dodge picked 246 different kinds of wild flowers during the summer, near Haverhill. A lot of us would have been there weren't that many. It illustrates the variety of ways in which the mysterious force, life, asserts itself.

There are now 20,000 species of groups of insects, although the average person knows but a comparatively small number of them. They form part of the natural life with which creation is weaving and of which man is king. Nature study leads into the mysteries of life in which we see the hand of a Divine Power working through it all for man's benefit to his only exercises his intelligence in using the natural resources placed at his disposal.

The Turks are now in full control at Constantinople and although the power of the Sultanate has been broken, the nationalists now in control carry out the policy of Turkey for the future. They are reported to be tightening the screws upon American missionary schools and churches of Christianity, all of which is to be expected as a result of the Turkish diplomatic triumph over the allies. They were defeated in the World War, but they have since reversed the result and by diplomatic shrewdness taken over all the fruits of victory from the allies.

If these memorial anniversaries refer to the Widow Lorens' row that kicked over the lantern in that Chicago stable are kept up, there's likely to be a monument erected to the naughty heroine in the near future as an ever-present warning in the national campaign to abolish confederations. The downward rush of the German mark and the new alleged hopelessness of Germany's situation are blamed on Premier Poincare for his speech refusing to accept something uncertain in exchange for the tangible heroes in the Arizona hospitals. And, Ruhr, Germany's self-pity appears to the senator is not the only Marschall's selfish citizen who feels the same way, for it must be remembered that a The republic of Salvador sends to

New York for a loan of some $5,000,000, which ought to be easy to get from the Morgans, Kuhns and Loeb's et al., for the country's debt is but $18,000,000 and the bondholders for this amount are some of Britain's largest financiers.

Perhaps Mr. Coolidge's real reason for being taciturn and slow-spoken in his disinclination to talk without saying something worth hearing. He has the right idea, though many office-seekers and lobbyists do not like his guarded utterances.

The prohibition enforcement bureau reports that more than 500,000 "invalids" received liquor prescriptions during the past year. Some of them must have been robust if they bought their stuff where the bootleggers reign.

Mr. Storow has paid his respects to those New Englanders who hold that the unification of New England railroads in one system is not the best solution of our transportation problems. New Englanders, of course, were always provincial in their views, but some of them can show Mr. Storow points even in this sequestered corner of the United States.

More than one anxious farmer of old Middlesex is discovering once again the value of the ancient, tried-and-true spring often neglected in the past down by the old back pasture lane just below the homestead. Many land-owners are having their troubles during this dry spell, providing sufficient water for homes and cattle barns.

The student registration figures at Amherst, largely increased this year, show that the well known Massachusetts college got a lot of advertising out of its recent flurry over changes in the faculty.

And the rural roadsides on some of these bright October days are also enlivened by the colorful display of newly-made sweet cider in the plump glass containers that used to be manufactured almost solely for the liquid that had another tang.

Stepping on the high price of gas in Massachusetts is always a popular vacation; but the state commission on the necessities of life has no powers to cut prices.

What is your honest opinion of the proposed come-back of one Grover Cleveland Bergdall?

A Boston coal dealer has soothingly informed his regular customers to "keep cool." Now or later?

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

A new drink called "cassina" may give tea a run. It is brewed after the manner of tea from the leaves of the cassina shrub, which grows abundantly along the South Atlantic and Gulf states. Its active principle is caffeine. Cassina contains less tannin than tea, however, and is less harmful on this account. About a year ago congress appropriated $5000 for the investigation of the possibilities of the cassina plant. The bureau of chemistry, receiving money and a lot of old tea manufacturing machinery which has been used in the government's long and futile attempts to grow tea at a reasonable cost in this country, set up an experimental station for the manufacture of cassina near Charleston, S. C. The shrub grew wild in the vicinity, and the bureau's experiments, hinged largely about a product from which the caffeine-containing drink could be brewed economically and on a commercial scale.

I saw an unusual occurrence in these days of independent workmen, Tuesday night. A gang of men had used up all the material on hand for repairing the street and as no more was in sight at four o'clock they put on their coats and started for home. Ten minutes after closing the job they saw the trucks with new supplies on the way to the job, and knowing that as much as possible of the street must be laid before cold weather strikes the city, the men turned around and going back, worked overtime until ten o'clock. They were fortunate in having such an interested group of workers in its employment.

The pledge to the flag, which every child learns in school, has been slightly modified and State Commissioner of Education Payson Smith has asked citizens heads throughout the state to conform with the new pledge. Formerly the pledge ran: "I pledge allegiance to my flag;" but this has been changed to read: "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States and to the republic for which it stands, and nation indivisible with liberty and justice for all."

When Judge Qua came upon the bench one morning last week to open the session of superior civil court he was a bit surprised to find, instead of the usual glass pitcher of water, a highly polished silver thermos bottle, with cover attached. Knowing of Judge Qua's dislike to drink ice water, Judge Qua decided to drink from the exclusive use of the court and, needless to say, it is appreciated.

Colin Mackenzie, custodian of the Auditorium, has in his possession a diary of Lowell published after the Civil War. In this book are lists of all Lowell men who served in that war as well as a list giving the names of the men who furnished substitutes and who the substitutes were. He is using this book in checking up the lists to be placed on tablets in Trophy hall, and it will be hard indeed for any names to be credited unworthily.

Apparently there are a good many citizens of Lawrence who are not satisfied with the constitution form of government, similar to that which Lowell all tried and found wanting. Petitions are now being circulated in the down-river city and there is no difficulty being encountered in securing signatures, so that the question will in all probability be submitted to the voters on the ballot at the state election.

The amateur sportsman has been taking advantage of the excellent weather during the past week for a tramp in the woods. The only drawback has been the scarcity of rain and the necessarily drying up of the marshy lands, where the partridge hangs out. But the hunters report that notwithstanding this they have had much success.

Anybody Could Treat
"So sorry to hear your husband has been drinking again. Mrs. Miggins. Of course, drunkenness is a disease. He ought to be treated by a physician."

"Bless ye, 'a wouldn't mind that, sir! When my 'usband's 'ad a drop 'e don't care 'oo treats 'im."

Stretching the Truth

Too Many Specimens

"Is there any necessity of your having quite so many young idiots hanging around here, Mabel?" asked the father in the properly deferential tone of a modern parent. "I am studying human nature, papa," answered the sweet girl. "You know the proper study of mankind—or womankind—is man." "Right, but I must say I don't like the way you keep the house littered up with your specimens."

Let She Was Sweet

Newlywed was on his honeymoon, and as he had married a very pretty girl he lost no chance of telling every body with whom he came in contact that he was a married man. "I want rooms," he announced, as he approached the hotel clerk, trying to appear as nonchalant as possible. "Certainly, sir," said the clerk. "For how many?" "For myself and my wife," replied Newlywed. "Yes, sir," said the clerk. "Suite, sir?" "Sweet," cried Newlywed. "Of course she is!"

Too Much for Lawyer

The plaintiff was suing an automobile company for negligence on the part of one of their drivers. The case was going much against the company, and it was clear to all that the evidence of the plaintiff had very favorably impressed the judge and jury. This did not improve the temper of the counsel for the defendant, and when cross-examining he waxed very sarcastic. "As a matter of fact," he said sarcastically, "you were nearly scared to death, and you don't know whether it was a motor car or something resembling a motor car that hit you." "May I say, then," the plaintiff replied calmly, "that I was forcibly struck by the resemblance?"

To the Pinked Gentian

Thou blossoms bright with Autumn dew,
And colored with the Heaven's own blue,
That openest when the quiet light
Succeeds the keen and frosty night.
Thou comest not when the violets lean
O'er wandering brooks and springs unseen.
Or columbines, in purple, dressed,
Nod o'er the ground-bird's hidden nest.
Thou waitest late and comest alone,
When woods are bare and birds have flown.
And when shortening days portend
The aged year is near his end.

Then dost thy sweet and quiet eye
Look through its fringes to the sky,
Blue blue—blue as if that sky fell
A flower from its cerulean wall.

I would that thou, when I shall see
The hour of death draw near to me,
Hope, blossoming within my heart,
May look to Heaven as I depart.

HELD ENTERTAINMENT AND WHIST PARTY

The parish hall of St. Louis' church in Beauclieu street was the scene of an entertainment and whist party by the members of St. Anne's sodality last night. The affair was attended by several hundred members with their friends, and the party was a complete success both socially and financially.

The playing commenced on the several dozen tables at 8 o'clock and the results were not known until about 9:30. The many pleasing prizes which have been on display at Corda's pharmacy for some time, were presented at the end of the program. At the conclusion of the card playing, an entertainment was furnished by members of the society under the direction of Oliver J. David, their leader, who gave some fine numbers by himself.

Present, among the entertainers were Thomas Savard, Benjamin LaJeunesse, Joseph Lemieux and Edmond Gamache.

Rev. John B. Labossiere and other members of the church clergy attended the function, the brilliant success of which is due to the efforts of a committee composed of Mrs. Napoleon Savard, secretary, Mrs. Narcisse Gauthier, treasurer, Mrs. Philippe Fortin and Mrs. Adelard St. Jean.

during the evening and appropriate pieces were given by Miss Gladys Porter, Miss Cathleen Shay and Miss Madeline Trott. The children indulged in games during the evening. A buffet luncheon was served by the hostess, added by Mrs. Wesley Porter and Mrs. Annie Hensbury, and a large and beautiful birthday cake, the feature of the occasion, was presented by Mrs. George W. Trott. The happy little fellow was the recipient of many beautiful presents. After wishing him happiness and long life the party broke up at a reasonable hour, with the assurances of all present that they had had a good time.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem The Illogical Sex

Men used to criticize my ways
And say my figure was unsightly,
Because I laced myself in stays
Which bound me tightly.

They once condemned in bitter terms
My lengthy skirts, and spoke with passion
Of how they swept up dirt and germs
In wholesale fashion.

With linen stiff I used to deck
My throat; whereas both fools and scholars
Said I would spoil my swan-like neck
With stand-up collars.

I tossed my armor-plate aside,
And happily I do without it;
Instead of being satisfied,
Men kick about it.

My skirts are short, my limbs are free,
No more I'm tightly choked and bodiced,
And promptly all the men agree
That I'm immodest.

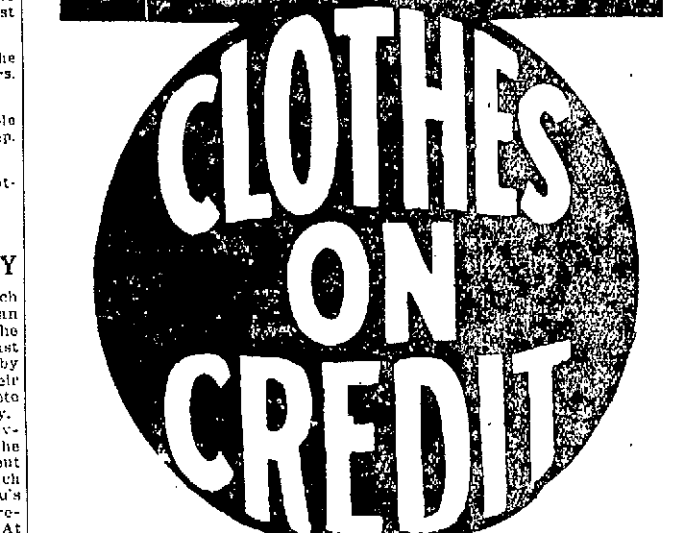

"Illogical" they call us? Oh,
THEIR inconsistencies refute 'em,
No matter what we do, we know
We cannot suit 'em.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 12.—Some days ago the New Orleans zoo received two deer from the antipodes. They were beautifully spotted. Authorities were at a loss how to classify them, or what names to give them. A negro keeper solved the problem.

This week park policemen were startled by raucous calls: "Come Sebben! Come Lebben!" The cop thought he would add to his laurels by raiding a crap game and pushing his way through the bushes toward the calls.

"What are you doing, boy?" he asked. "Callin' dem deer," the negro replied. "Dey's marked jes' lak a path ob deer."

Since then the deer have been known as Seven and Eleven.

ly swam Lake Pontchartrain, a distance of 28 miles, in 15 hours and 5 minutes. Hunt wrote a description of his swim for the newspapers, and in closing said:

"I lost 12 pounds on the swim." Swimming pool proprietors immediately commenced advertising classes for fat ladies, and now the line of buxom matrons and maids is long that extra days have had to be so provided for their accommodation.

Statistics just compiled by the New Orleans school board show that girls are better spellers than boys. Perfect papers were turned in by 3621 girls, as compared with 2152 boys. The crusty old bachelor school teacher, in commenting on the superiority of the girls, said:

"No wonder; the female of the species always used more words than the male."

The migration of negroes to the north, according to Walter A. Valois, Louisiana planter, has not so much affected the number of laborers as it has the quality and amount of work performed. Valois easily recruited enough white laborers to take the places of his negroes in the cotton fields and sugar cane. But they couldn't get the work out of the mules that the negroes could.

"A negro could drive a mule down a straight row without having any lines," said Valois, "just talk to him, that's all. White men don't know the mule language, so there is great delay in their work."

longer be barred from the full advantages of the public schools for education, under a new arrangement for their schooling.

Sightless children will be taken right into the public schools and the regular classes. Heretofore they have been placed in a special school for the blind. They will be helped with their lessons, the same lessons that all children with good eyesight have to prepare.

In 1900 New Orleans had a death rate of 27 per 1000 population. The mortality figures for 1922 are 16.2 per 1000. Principal reason for this noteworthy betterment of public health is the magnificent city waterworks and sewerage system constructed at a cost of nearly $40,000,000.

SUCCESSFULLY TREAT SLEEPING SICKNESS

HAMBURG, Oct. 12. (By the A. P.)—Cures which strike the Congo native as being more miraculous than those of Biblical days are being performed on victims of sleeping sickness in Central Africa, according to Dr. Martin Mayer, of the Hamburg Tropical Institute, who was the first scientist to test a German remedy on sleeping sickness.

A German commission under the leadership of Dr. Klein is now in the tropical section of Africa applying the remedy. There are records of 170 Congo natives who have been treated. Only a few of these died, owing to brain and nerve complications. The others regained their strength and declared they were as well as they ever had been.

Dr. Mayer is of the opinion that science has found a remedy which will make it possible to develop much territory in the tropics which has hitherto been closed because of the danger of sleeping sickness.

GERMAN SMALL COINS DISAPPEAR
BERLIN, Oct. 12. (By the A. P.)—Aluminum 200 and 500 mark pieces issued by the government some months ago for small change purposes have entirely disappeared, and it is even impossible to obtain them at the banks.

With the depreciation of the currency, the metal in the pieces soon became worth more than their face value in marks. Poker players, too, are held partly responsible for disappearance of the pieces, as the aluminum coins were just a handy size to be used for chips.

There's a Right Way and a Wrong Way to Burn Lowell Coke

With all records being broken in the delivery of Lowell Coke, and the certainty of a greatly increased demand just as soon as the first real cold spell arrives, we feel that it is a matter of public interest to make plain the proper way to use Coke as a fuel.

The fact that all coal dealers are now placing great stress on the sale of Coke is due principally to two reasons: First, the shortage and high price of anthracite; second, the fact that you can secure just as good heat results with Coke and with very little accumulation of dirt and ashes.

The price of Lowell Coke is 50 cents per ton less than it was a year ago, and that is perhaps one of the reasons why we have secured so many new customers who have been burning anthracite in past winters.

IN USING LOWELL COKE

In the furnace, in the range, or in the heating stove, you must remember that a somewhat different handling is required than if you were using hard coal. If directions are followed, you can heat your house for less money, and do away with much of the disagreeable labor incidental to the use of hard coal.

HOW TO BUILD THE FIRE

Kindle in the usual way. It is not necessary to clear your grate bars of ashes. In fact it is preferable to leave at least two inches of ashes on the grate, on which to kindle the fire. Less kindling will be required than with hard coal, and in about fifteen minutes you will have a good bed of fire. Fill your furnace with coke, leaving drafts open not more than five minutes, after which the damper may be closed and cold air drafts opened to check the fire as much as possible.

HOW TO KEEP THE FIRE

Fill the fire pot full of coke. Keep a large bed of fire, as it is more economical to have a large bed of fire under low draft than a smaller bed of fire under a stronger draft. (See diagram.)

AT NIGHT

When you leave the fire at night throw on as much coke as the fire pot will hold. Close lower drafts, open wide all check drafts and open the check draft in the feed door and you will have no trouble in keeping your fire over night.

IN THE MORNING

Should you find the fire a little low in the morning, do not shake it; poke a few holes from above to allow for draft, and throw on a shovel or two of coke. Open your draft and in about ten minutes you will have a good fire. As soon as the fire is well under way, shake to relieve of surplus ashes, but be sure to stop shaking as soon as live coals appear in the ash pit.

Then, again, we are giving 30 two-bushel bags, or 60 bushels in all, for a ton. This fact alone is sufficient reason why everyone who believes at all in economy should use Lowell Coke.

The manner in which Lowell Coke is produced gives it a higher percentage of carbon than is contained in anthracite coal, which leaves a far less amount of ash and makes it so much easier to handle.

AT NOON

When you fixed the fire in the morning, you filled the fire box as full of coke as possible. You closed most of your drafts until you got a large body of fire, then closed every draft and opened your check draft. At noon fill up the furnace as you would with hard coal in severe weather, only be sure and fill it full.

DURING MILD WEATHER

If you have a fairly good draft you will probably find that during mild weather you can keep the feed door ajar most of the time. You can hold the fire readily from twelve to eighteen hours. If your furnace has too much draft, it is well to throw a shovelful of ashes over the bed of fuel before leaving it.

Shake the fire only once a day. Stop shaking as soon as live coals appear.

HERE'S THE WHOLE STORE IN A NUTSHELL

1. Start fire as for coal.
2. Use same size coke as you would coal.
3. Keep fire pot full.
4. Use slow draft.
5. Poke fire from top rather than shake.
6. Bank fire with fine coke or ashes.
7. Open drafts to start fire quickly.
8. Keep check in door open a small amount.
9. Notify Lowell Gas Light Co. of any trouble or difficulties.
10. We guarantee satisfaction and service.

EMINENT EXPERTS AT FIRST ANNUAL MEETING OF THE AMERICAN CHILD HEALTH ASSOCIATION

There will be no question of the ability of speakers at the first annual meeting of the American Child Health Association scheduled for Detroit, from Oct. 15 to 17, inclusive—to discuss the subjects assigned to them. Each is a specialist in his or her particular field and each will have the experience of years of activity and close study as authority for what is said.

Three of these eminent experts are shown above. They are Dr. E. C. Hartley, director of child hygiene of the Minnesota state board of health; Dr. Helen T. Wooley, psychologist at the Merrill-Palmer school, Detroit (in center); and Dr. Frank J. O'Brien, of the psychological clinic, Louisville, Ky. Each has a place on the program and each will be heard with marked attention by the more than six hundred delegates who will attend the convention from every section of the United States and from some foreign countries.

Dr. Hartley has chosen as his subject one with which the convention is vitally concerned. It will be "The Rural Mother: Effective Methods of Increasing Her Interest and Cooperation in Improving the Health of Her Family." This Minnesota official has given much time to this phase of his department's work and is considered to be one of the country's foremost authorities on it.

"Habit Formation; Health Formation for School Life" will be Dr. Wooley's subject. Through her contact with the Merrill-Palmer school she has specialized in this branch of child health work.

In speaking on "The Psychological Background of Health Teaching," Dr. O'Brien will urge upon the delegates the necessity for a thorough treatment of subjects. Not only the physical and mental ailments must be carefully studied, he will contend, but broader questions, such as environment and the health of other members of the family, must be considered.

This will be the first national convention of the American Child Health Association, which was organized last winter by the merging of the American Child Hygiene Association and the Child Health Organization of America. Herbert Hoover is the president of the association, which has as its purpose the betterment of the health of America's childhood. It deals with every phase of this question, from the prenatal period through the pre-school and school ages.

march through the downtown streets, the council members were led by the Lowell Cadet band.

Early this afternoon the Christopher Columbus society began its celebration of the day which began with a parade to Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street, at 1:45 o'clock. The Mazini band of Lawrence provided marching tunes. At the meeting at the hall the speakers scheduled were Mayor John J. Donovan, Dr. Fred P. Murphy and Prof. Orlando of Boston.

In the world of sport the day was one of great activity, with World Series reports being received downtown, the Red Sox and O.M.L. Cadets clashing in a football championship and a carnival of wrestling going on at Bunting park under the auspices of Battery B. The high school team left at noon for Manchester, N. H., to play the high school eleven of the Queen City.

This evening the Moody club will present to the lovers of recitatives Billie Murphy of Lowell and Charlie Manty of New Bedford and other bouts as preliminaries.

The 25th anniversary of the Spanish-American war is being celebrated in Boston with a parade of all organizations from Massachusetts which answered the call to arms issued at that time including survivors of the three Lowell companies, Companies C, G and M. They met at the armory in West street at 10:30 o'clock and left for Boston by train and auto truck shortly after 11 o'clock.

The three local golf clubs, Vesper, Longmeadow and Mt. Pleasant, presented attractive tournament possibilities to their members and players from out of town.

Theater and dance halls were prepared to entertain capacity crowds and above all the weather was warm enough to be enjoyable and the clear call to be out of doors was answered in thousands of instances.

TO LOOK PRETTIER END CONSTIPATION!

Constipation is often a cause of pimples, unhealthy complexion, dark rings around the eyes, fatigue, nervousness and irritability. And one of the chief reasons this condition is allowed to exist is because so many women dread to take harsh cathartics that pain and gripe and often leave one more constipated than ever when the drug effect wears off.

But yours of this handicap! Win back the flush of youth and beauty—the health and charm of school days. Take a good reliable tonic such as prescribed by Dr. H. S. Thacher and now used by thousands of women to help correct constipation without gripe—to improve digestion—to nourish the system—to soothe and ease tired, overworked nerves—to build up the system and put firm, healthy flesh and good pure, rich blood coursing through your veins.

Try just a spoonful of Dr. Thacher's after the next meal. Notice the quick difference in the way you eat, sleep, look and feel! If not completely satisfied your druggist is authorized to return your money.

MONUMENT TO MEMORY OF MAJ. GEN. WARREN

PLYMOUTH, Oct. 12.—A monument to the memory of Major General James Warren, paymaster-general of the continental army, president of the Massachusetts provincial congress and speaker of the Massachusetts house of representatives was unveiled on Burt Hill today by members of the Massachusetts society Sons of the American Revolution. The stone was designed by Geo. P. Tilton.

A detail from the Howitzer company of the 101st Infantry regiment fired a major general's salute and there were addresses by Arthur P. Sumner of Rhode Island, president-general of the society, Arthur Lord, president of the Pilgrim society, and Charles P. Read, chairman of the national committee on the Warren Memorial.

A letter from President Coolidge, read at the exercises, congratulated the committee in charge of its work in accomplishing the memorial.

"It is extremely worth while," the president's message said, "to keep the nation reminded of its debt to those who bore the great tasks of laying the foundations for its present power and security. Among these James Warren is entitled to a high place."

The dinner and supper are being served by the members of the Ladies' Social circle of the Paige Street church, of which Mrs. G. E. Colby is the president.

The following officers were elected by a unanimous vote at today's meeting: President, Rev. C. J. Armstrong of North Duxbury; vice-president, Rev. N. M. Simmons of Haverhill; secretary, Rev. Charles H. Ellis of Chelmsford; treasurer, Rev. George A. Melien of Lawrence; Thomas A. Whalen of Lowell and William L. Trull of North Duxbury were elected to executive committee for a term of three years.

At 7 o'clock, unfinished business will be disposed of and a short musical program lasting until 7:30 will fill the interlude before the evening address, which closes the convention.

NEW BILL TO PREVENT WEARING OF MASKS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 12.—(By The Associated Press) The state legislature proceeded today with arrangements for investigating the alleged acts of Governor J. C. Walton as a court of impeachment.

Members of the lower house plan formally to launch the action when they convene this afternoon by naming secret organizations to file their orders with county authorities, a "burdensome and expensive feature."

Senator Leedy's bill, like that of Governor Walton, would prohibit the wearing of masks and exact severe penalties against those who assemble for purposes of intimidation or violence.

ASO VOLCANO ACTIVE FOR SEVERAL DAYS

TOKIO, Oct. 12. (By The Associated Press)—The Aso volcano, 27 miles east of Kumamoto, one of the largest in the world, has been active for several days, according to the official report of the Tokyo Asahi.

The rumbling of the great volcano can be heard for many miles. It is said, and large quantities of ashes have been falling in nearby villages. The last previous eruption of Aso was in 1884, when ashes and dust were carried as far as Kumamoto.

Premonition has made a strong impression of a glass shell filled with a clear fluid.

ORR-EMMOTT NUPTIALS ATTEND HIGH SCHOOL

Brilliant Ceremony Marks
Wedding of Mr. A. S. Orr and Miss Virginia Emmott

Statistics Show That Fewer Students Now Spurn the High School

At a brilliant house wedding at 7:30 o'clock last evening, Miss Virginia Emmott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Emmott, became the bride of Mr. Andrew Stewart Orr, Lowell Textile 1921, and at present a department head at the Cherry & Webb Co. The wedding was at the Emmott home in Westford street, and attending the ceremony and reception which followed were several hundred friends of both families in New England and New York state.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Appleton Grannis, rector of St. Anne's, the double ring service being used. It took place in the drawing room under a beautiful canopy of laurel, white roses and smilax, with the bride standing within a white-ribbed aisle of flowers in which pink roses and white chrysanthemums predominated. White satin pillows on a white ruffled frame provided a kneeling place for the bride and bridegroom.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She had as her maid of honor Miss Dorothy Droege of New York city, and as bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Dalley of Augusta, Me., Miss Gertrude Baylis of Brooklyn, Miss Sarah Crane of Burlington, Vt., and Miss Marjorie McCord of Lowell. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. George A. Orr of New York and the ushers, were Mr. Alexander Orr of New York, Mr. James

CHICAGO, Oct. 12. (By the A.P.)—If the boy or girl who formerly "quit school" at the end of the seventh or eighth grade is not actually becoming extinct his ranks are being decimated annually, according to reports covering an average ten year period compiled from the offices of public instruction in ten central states.

The percentage of increased high school attendance for the period was taken as the medium for estimate. The average increase figure for the decade was found to be 96.4 per cent, with extremes ranging between 1000 per cent, the figure reported by Oklahoma, to 40 per cent, that of Iowa.

While the figures do not unqualifiedly represent the increased proportion of grade school students entering high schools—the factor of increasing population applying largely in newer states—they do indicate that the former gulf existing between the eighth grade and high school gradually is being eliminated.

In Oklahoma, according to a statement issued by Luther Russell, state high school inspector, the increase in 11 years from 1910 to 1921 was from 5125 to 52,021, or 100 per cent. Figures supplied by the department of education of Kentucky set the increase from 11,856 in 1913, to 36,000 in 1923—an advance of 202 per cent, while in South Dakota the total number of high school students in 1922, 19,653, represented a jump of 182 per cent from the number enrolled in 1912.

Mr. Orr of Boston and Mr. J. Milton Washburn of Lowell and Mr. Dean W. Symmes of Winchester, the latter two being classmates of the bridegroom at Lowell Textile.

The bride was gowned in white satin trimmed with princess lace and wore a veil caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of lilacs of the valley and orchids arranged in shower form. The maid of honor wore honey-dew georgette trimmed with gold lace and carried roses. Two of the bridesmaids wore a maize georgette, lace trimmed while two wore lavin green georgette, beaded in gold. All four wore gold stockings and slippers and carried old fashioned bouquets.

The bride gave to her maid of honor a platinum hat pin and to her bridesmaids, white gold linked bracelets. The gift of the bridegroom to his best man was a set of platinum cuff links and he remembered his ushers with platinum and gold cuff links.

With the bride and bridegroom in the receiving line at the reception which followed the ceremony at 7:30 o'clock were Mr. and Mrs. Emmott, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Orr of New York, father and mother of the bridegroom and the maid of honor and best man.

The wedding music was played by the Amphion trio, using piano, violin and cello and they also played during the reception. Luncheon was served by the Text company. Roses and daisies were used to procure a beautiful color scheme in the dining room, while in other rooms a decorative scheme of green and white was brought about by the attractive use of laurel and white chrysanthemums.

After a wedding trip by motor Mr. and Mrs. Orr will live at 12 Chester street.

Daring Pilot Will Pierce Skies to Locate Absolute Aerial Ceiling

(By N.E.A. Service)
ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 12.—Ed Ballough saved his life and smashed a garbage can when his plane hit upside down in a 2000-foot drop through the atmosphere onto somebody else's back yard.
Now he's being sued for living, in a test case which will decide the legal rights of stranded aviators, who find it necessary to trespass the free zone above land claimed by another.
Ballough's steering handle dropped out from under him as he was making one of the highest loops on record so far above terra firma that Robert Johnson's house and garage can be below him weren't even on the landscape.
Then all at once it happened and Ed found himself astride the obstreper-

FATE'S SEPULCHRE
Quicksand and bottom silt closed over the wrecks of cars which plunged off the weakened Coal Creek bridge near Casper, Wyo., recently, hurling some 25 to 40 passengers to their deaths in the turbulent waters below. Officials were impeded in their efforts to extricate bodies of victims from the tangled mass of steel and mud, due to submergence of the coaches, compelling them to burn passages through the roof tops with acetylene torches as shown in picture.

SET IMPEACHMENT MACHINERY IN MOTION

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press) Impeachment machinery of the Oklahoma house of representatives was set in motion today with the announcement by W. D. McFee, speaker, of a committee of 21 house members to conduct investigations upon which impeachment charges would be based.
The state senate postponed consideration of legislation affecting the K.K.K. when it adjourned after a 15-minute session until Monday afternoon. An anti-klan bill drawn by Senator C. R. Leedy which was to have been introduced was withheld.
From the size of the committee it is believed that investigations of several state departments might be undertaken simultaneously. It was indicated yesterday the committee would be composed of nine members. It is expected to be divided into several sub-committees to expedite its work.

The arrest of Cote follows several weeks' investigation by the postmaster, caused by several reports of mail matter containing money failing to arrive at its destination. Shortly before midnight last night the postmaster and the inspectors took up favorable positions in the postoffice and a marked letter was set as a lure for the probable thief. Suspicion rested upon Cote and shortly before 3 o'clock he was taken into custody and searched and it is claimed that the marked letter was found upon his person.
Cote drives one of the Douglas trucks on the shift starting at midnight and continuing until 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning. In his official capacity he is not supposed to handle any loose mail, but only the sacks in which the mail is transported. During the periods between trips to the station, it is claimed that he loitered about the postoffice building and picked up mail addressed to credit houses in this city.
If it is possible to locate U. S. Commissioner Hayes in Boston today, Cote will be taken to Boston by U. S. Deputy Marshal Hart of Lowell for arraignment.

Cote resides at 39 Concord street, is about 26 years of age, is married and has two children, the younger but four months old.
In speaking of the arrest today, Postmaster Duliste stated that small thefts have been going on, the matter stolen not being registered mail but ordinary first class matter. After a long investigation suspicion was drawn to Cote through several acts and the arrest followed.
It is hoped by the postmaster that this arrest will put a stop to the loss of certain letters, mailed in the ordinary manner, and containing money, addressed to certain local credit houses. The postmaster warns that in all cases where money is sent through the mails it should be sent by registered mail.

MANTON METCALF DEAD

Was Wealthy Woolen Manufacturer, Philanthropist and Club Man

ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 12.—Manton Bradley Metcalf, wealthy woolen manufacturer, philanthropist and club man, died at his home early today from heart disease.

Mr. Metcalf was a member of the firm of Metcalf Brothers and Co., selling agents for one of the largest woolen manufacturers in the United States. One of his chief plants in the Waukegan mills in Rhode Island.
Mr. Metcalf became identified with the business in 1881, leaving Brown university in that year as a member of the class of 1884, and with his brothers Jesse and Stephen, continued it after the death of their father.

He had returned only two days ago from Providence, where he took part in the formal dedication of a half million dollar chemical laboratory given to Brown university by his brother Jesse, in memory of their father.

During the war Mr. Metcalf turned his yacht Sachem over to the government and it was used by Thomas A. Edison for experimental purposes. The late President Harding, who was a close personal friend of Mr. Metcalf, had often been entertained aboard the Sachem.

First successful while across the Atlantic was made 72 years ago.

FOUR HOME RUNS FEATURE SECOND GAME WON BY YANKEES TO TIE UP WORLD SERIES

BABE RUTH

"Babe" Ruth Chases World Series Jinx and Hammers Out Two Circuit Drives in Successive Innings—Ward and "Irish" Meusel Only Home Run Hitters—Pennock Pitched Fine Game for Winners

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (By the Associated Press).—Pitchers, always looked upon as the prime factors in contests between leading baseball teams, have been but a medium of importance in the present world series between the New York Giants and the New York Yankees. Like clay bird traps, they have been but shooters of tickets for squads of marksmen and to the marksmen has come the glory.

The series now stands all even. Giants and Yankees each having won a game. In the first tilt, Charles (Casey) Stengel of Missouri was the master marksmen, his homer in the ninth inning winning the game for the Giants, 5 to 4. Casey won fame because of that clean hit, but he must bow to Babe Ruth, whose two homers yesterday provided the winning margin for the Yankees, 4 to 2. Ruth's first blow, caught on the end of his great long arms, sailed clear over the high flying stands of the Polo grounds and on to none knows where. The second, a terrific low flying line drive, sent the ball into the lower right field grandstand, scattered two score fans and shattered the wooden arm rest of a seat.

Pitching Sinks Into Shadows

Compared to such stick work the excellent pitching of Ryan for the Giants and Bush for the Yankees in the first game, and that of Herb Pennock for the Yankees in yesterday's contest, sinks into the shadows. There yet may be an old-fashioned pitcher's duel, but with the heavy hitters in form the possibility is remote.

Ruth is the axis about which the Yankee sphere revolves. When Ruth is in, the Yankees turn perfectly. And Ruth was Ruth yesterday. Whatever casts the Yankees may have lost in 1922, when they were thrashed by the Giants without a single victory. Huggins, the bit of a manager, believed they regained yesterday through Ruth's performance.

Four of the six runs scored yesterday were on home runs. In the second

"CASBY AT THE BAT"
It looked extremely easy for the Yankees yesterday.
But, out in front, per usual, they kicked the game away.
They hobbled back and wobbled there and stumbled true to form.
And pretty soon were smothered beneath a Giant slugging storm.

And other smiling promises proved but a husk deferred.
But six thousand roars cheered the Rhinos with zeal and will.
For darn their blundering hides, with all their faults we love 'em still.

Aye, from the threats of that cast through arose a frenzied roar.
When Hallet Bush and Jumping Joe combined and tied the score.
And hope was strong till in the ninth, with two runs leveled dat, came a warning up to bat.

ti, somewhere in this Bloomin' town there's fun and all that sort.
But over in the Bronx, dearie hangs like a bell.

BOXING BOUTS TONIGHT LOWELL HIGH PLAYING IN MANCHESTER

Murphy and Manty in Great Condition for Moody Club Battle

Billy Murphy and Charley Manty finished their training yesterday and both are reported in perfect condition for their important battle engagement at the Moody club tonight. The bout is scheduled for ten rounds and both men are prepared to travel the journey at a fast pace.

Manty worked out with a number of notable ringmen in New Bedford, paying particular attention to a defense against a southpaw attack. With the experience he acquired in training, coupled with the knowledge obtained in the former battle with the Lowell flash, he confidently expects to even the score this evening.

The whaler expects to launch a whirling attack at the outset and carry on until the end. He has been going at topspeed all season and only last week won over the veteran Al Shaber, in a hurricane battle. He emerged from the encounter without any signs of combat and after a brief rest went into intensive training for tonight's bout.

Murphy has been working out with Philney Boye and other capable sparring partners, and all declare he is in the "pink." They agree that the local boy has greatly improved since he last fought Manty and they look to see him win by an even greater margin than in the other bout.

Murphy is prepared to go more fighting than he showed before. He's just as fast at long range work, but he's hitting harder and more often. He will be ready for Manty when he tours at him and he will enter the ring determined not to yield, but to batter his way to a second triumph.

In the vent-ant, Babe Adams of Lawrence meets Johnny Duffy of this city. Sailor Monroe will meet Herby McDonald in one of the preliminaries and Ted Sullivan will tackle Larry Robinson in the other.

HE'S A NOBLEMAN AND A NOBLE HALE

Oh, girls, you just must meet Mons. Henry Castellane, half-look on the Harvard football squad. Henry is one of those blue bloods George Barr McCutcheon is always writing about. Henry is a nephew of Count Boni of Anna Gould note, and is the son of Count Stanislaw Castellane of Paris. Isn't that just too thrilling for syllables!

Spindle City Well Represented at Thrilling Battles—"Bob" Hart in the Limelight—His Decision on Technical Play Upheld by Experts—Lowell Visitors Meet "Billy" Evans, Noted Sports Authority, and Special Writer for The Sun

Several Lowell men who attended the first two games of the world series returned to the Spindle City last night, well satisfied that they had witnessed a couple of historic battles. Lowell people are numerous over in the big city, many of whom plan to remain until the baseball classic is over.

All are greatly interested in the work of "Bob" Hart, fellow townsman, who is officiating in the capacity of one of the umpires. Hart had the third base assignment in the opening game. Yesterday he worked at second base, today at first and tomorrow he will be behind the plate as umpire-in-chief.

FANS GO WILD OVER BABE RUTH

"Babe" Ruth was the big noise at the Crescent rink yesterday afternoon when his two home runs were flashed on the electric score board, which is daily giving a play by play account of the world series games. When the big "Rhino" socked the apple over the fence the first time causing the belt on the board to ring as he touched each base the roar that went up could be heard some distance away, but when he repeated the stunt in the very next inning the applause and cheers rocked the hall. It was one of the wildest and most enthusiastic demonstrations ever witnessed. When Ward and Meusel got their circuit smashes they drew abundant applause, but it remained for the big "king of swat" to "bring down the house."

Large crowds are turning out every day to witness the electric wonder presenting the games just as they occur over in New York city. The games start at 2 o'clock.

Roper Again Courts Miss Miracle

BILL
ROPER

BY JOE WILLIAMS.
N.E.A. Service Writer.
PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 12.—Alderman Bill Roper of Princeton is in a cloistered seclusion these days investigating the scientific theory that lightning never delivers its electrical fury to the same address twice.

A year ago the Princeton football squad riddled by the departure of five outstanding stars—Laurie, Keck, Wittmer, Garity, and Gilroy—was struck by the lightning of a football miracle, the effect of which was to lift a team of obvious mediocrities to the dizzy heights of a championship.

This year Roper finds himself in a similar situation with the entire center of his line shot away, the two surviving veterans ending standing as heroic reminders of a glorious past.

On these two ends and a backfield of four seasoned men the Philadelphia political genius must build his new team, a team which will be called on to battle Notre Dame, Navy, Harvard and Yale in quick jumps.

The Nassau Tiger rather makes a specialty of picking out the tough ones. Last year it was Chicago, Harvard and Yale. This year Notre Dame replaces Stagg's men on the schedule and the middlemen are added to lighten the blow.

Nobody expected the Tiger to come through with a clean slate last fall, but he did. Nobody thinks the Tiger can repeat this fall—but he may.

They do think in an interesting if not an orthodox manner at Princeton. Roper has no set system, beyond the development of a winner in a general way. Since the thrilling days of Sammy White and the Fox boys the Tigers have been known as a team of "opportunists," close, eager followers of the bull, men who are schooled to wait for the "break" and then capitalize it.

Roper has a way of appealing to the individuality of the player as distinguished from the highly systematized mass maneuvering of other coaches. Roper banks heavily on the inspirational spark. It is his theory that the inspired scrum will outplay a stodgy star any day in the week, and twice on Saturday afternoons. To have the best team is not important, to play the best game always is.

ing, Roper has two fine ends in Stout and Drews. The return of Hutson to tackle is a big help. Hutson did not play last year. Hill, a 200 pounder, will probably go to the other tackle. Howard is a guard with experience. Paschal has the inside track for the other guard position. Caldwell, an all-round man, is filling the center berth acceptably.

The old backfield is back in action, with the tiny Johnny Gorman, endearing hero of the Chicago game last year, still calling signals at quarterback. Back, Captain Salveto, Beattie Newby and Crum are smashing backs, able defensive workers and smart players. Barring injuries this backfield, as an effective unit, will rank with the best in the game.

Ambitious, hopeful second stringers should in the usual numbers. Forrest, Helmuth, Reynolds and Hemminger are capable reserves for the line. Foster, Irving, Shuckler, O'Connell and Legendre, a brother of the former Princeton star, are lurking in the background wishing nobody ill, but hoping a flock of backfield men fall down and bump their heads.

Army's Main Grid Hopes

ARMY'S MAIN GRID HOPES

With Notre Dame, Yale and the Navy on their schedule, not to forget Arkansas and Alabama, good teams from the south, the West Point Cadets are in for a rugged season. Fortunately Captain McEwen, coach, seems to have a formidable squad of footballers. Eastern experts look for the army stars to have one of their greatest years. In Captain Mulligan the Army has a great tackle. Quarterback Snyder has few equals in the east. Garbisch, All-America center of last year, is still his tremendously effective self and the acquisition of Hewitt, former Pittsburg line demolisher, has given the Cadets a fullback of extraordinary ability.

Fullback Plunge Is Hard Play to Stop If Properly Executed

By ROBERT C. ZUPPKE
Football Coach, University of Illinois, Author of "Football Technique and Tactics"

The leading back drives ahead through the opening for the secondary. The quarterback fades out wide, or may run straight back with his hands in the air, to momentarily draw the attention of the defense.

The pass from center should be a "dancer," knee high to hold the fullback down, and directly in front of him. The fullback at the snap of the ball plunges low and hard toward the hole, takes the ball out of the air and crashes into the opening in the quickest possible time.

In all straight plays it is necessary to reach the line of scrimmage quickly, before opponents can recover and close the hole.

The fullback must carry the ball in two hands and hit the line with increasing speed, so that weak attempts at tackling are thrown off.

Some fullbacks have the knack of changing direction either in or out just as they hit the line, without slackening up their speed. This is an added advantage because the correct hole may not have opened, or after several attempts the opponents successfully block the straight smash, but leave an opening to the right or left.

Next comes Play No. 1, a hidden ball play.

12 KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Terrific Blast in Hunting Goods Store in Busy Street in Moscow

Two Buildings Shattered—Exploding Cartridges
Hurtled Among Passersby

MOSCOW, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press)—At least 12 persons were killed and several scores injured by a terrific explosion today in a hunting goods store on the Neklianni Prospekt, one of the principal streets of Moscow. Two buildings were shattered by the shock and debris and exploding cartridges and cartridge belts were hurled among passersby. Above the store crowded apartments were located.

DECLARES "CLEAN-UP WEEK" USELESS IDEA

"Nuisance Prevention"

In a broadside at popular belief that had smells and filthy back yards constitute a serious menace to the public health, which he said they did not, Dr. Chapin waxed scathingly sarcastic. His address was entitled, "Nuisance Prevention—a hindrance to the Prevention of Disease."

"A real clean-up week consumes about two months of the health department's time, and much money," he said. "The text for the movement is a cartoon. At one side is a lovely little cottage with new paint and ramping roses, a neat picket fence with hollyhocks along it, and a smooth lawn with a toddler in her Sunday clothes on the grass, who gives the impression that she is in for a spanking if she gets green on her frock or dirt on her hands."

Assails Popular Beliefs

"On the left is a ramshackle affair of the same design with loose clapboards and crazy blinds. Several pickets are off the fence. There is never a flower or blade of grass, and the dirt yard is strewn with old tins and crockery, and is full of holes where children have dug trenches and made mud pies."

"It is no wonder that paint-makers have urged clean-up week, but it is surprising that health officers have become their efficient advertisers. "The cans do not breed disease. A dead cat in the street will not cause diphtheria. Even a burning dump will not affect the health. An untrapped sink will do no harm. Garbage in the ash heap never results in typhoid fever. To whitewash the cellar will not prolong life. An uncovered cesspool is a cause of death only by drowning. Bad odors are practically harmless."

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, wish to express our thanks to all those especially in the inspecting room of the Ipswich hospital, who by their many acts of kindness, moral and spiritual offerings helped to lighten the sorrow in our bereavement in the death of our beloved daughter, wife and sister. Their kindnesses will ever be remembered by us.

MR. AND MRS. DE GEORGE AND FAMILY.
MATTHEW MURACA.

KIDNEYS NEED LOTS OF WATER AT TIMES

If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers
Also Take a Little Salts

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. Adv.

NASHUA MAN INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

George Morin, 33, of 23 Ridge street, Nashua, is at the Lowell Corporation hospital with a broken leg, a bad scalp wound and several minor injuries as the result of being pinned under his machine which turned turtle on the Pawtucket boulevard near the pumping station early last night.

The injured man was riding to Lowell with Patrick P. Levesque, also of Nashua, who was operating the car. Blinded by the headlights of an oncoming machine, he said, he lost control, the car speeding into a nearby field and turning turtle. Levesque was uninjured.

COUNSEL CLASH AT DIVORCE TRIAL

Witness for Stokes Charges
District Attorney's Office
Tried to Influence Him

Had Testified That He Saw Mrs. Stokes at Home of Edgar A. Wallace

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Acting District Attorney Ferdinand Pecora will appear on Monday to refute charges directed at his office by Joseph A. Thornton, who during yesterday's session of the re-trial of the divorce action of W. E. D. Stokes, wealthy hotel owner, asserted that an attempt had been made to influence his testimony. The assertion of Thornton, a negro and former janitor of an East 35th street apartment house, where Edgar A. Wallace, chief correspondent, lived, indirectly led to a snafu between opposing counsel.

Thornton, a witness for Mr. Stokes, precipitated the tilt when he said that during the previous trial of the case, at which he identified Mrs. Stokes as the woman he had seen at the East 35th street address, he received a subpoena to appear before the district attorney and subsequently was questioned by Stanley L. Richter, then an assistant district attorney, who is son-in-law of Samuel Untermyer, chief counsel for Mrs. Stokes. Ferdinand G. Morton, also a former assistant district attorney and now civil service commissioner and finally by Mr. Pecora.

"We went down to Mr. Pecora's office," the witness said, "and Mr. Morton says 'Here's Thornton. He's a tough proposition. He still swears he saw Mrs. Stokes go into that apartment. I can't get it out of him. He really believes he saw her.'"

The witness declared then that Mr. Pecora said: "You can say that you might be mistaken; that she wasn't the one; that it might have been someone else. There is need of you getting into trouble for Mr. Stokes. The easiest way is the best way; that you might be mistaken; that she is not the party."

Mr. Morton, according to the witness said: "Mrs. Stokes might have gone to Mr. Wallace's apartment. I don't know anything about it but you can say that you might be mistaken; that she is not the woman."

At this juncture, Mr. Untermyer abruptly arose and said the district attorney's office should be advised.

"This man should be committed for perjury," he thundered.

Max De Steuer, of counsel for Mr. Stokes retorted:

"This is the cheapest thing I've ever witnessed and I'm surprised at you."

Mr. Untermyer's remarks were drowned in the uproar which followed, but Mr. De Steuer continued:

"That's all you can do; use public officers that way. At any rate, I didn't use my son-in-law."

Activity in the Stokes case shifted today to Missouri, where Mrs. Stokes has gone with counsel to hunt witnesses in an attempt to disprove testimony that she was seen with Wallace in Bonville and Bunceston, Mo., in 1904, when, she declares, she was attending school in Washington, D. C., and did not know the man.

Important To All Mothers

Your children can always be charmingly dressed if you will starch their wash clothes with Linit—the remarkable starch discovery.

Even ordinary cotton goods, napkins, table-cloths, curtains, etc., have a cool, soft, pliable finish, like expensive linen, when starched with Linit.

A New Starch Discovery

LINIT is a scientific starch discovery—distinctly different from ordinary starches. After Linit is thoroughly dissolved, according to directions and is ready for use, you will notice it is THIN and FREE-RUNNING LIKE WATER—with a "milky" appearance.

Be sure to use Linit according to directions, and unlike other starches, you will not find Linit stiff or jelly-like. This is why Linit goes much further than the old-fashioned kind of starches, and is much easier to iron with.

Linit penetrates the fabric, helps prevent wear, and prolongs the life of the material.

You will be interested to know that Linit was originally developed for the use of the great Fabric Makers to give that smartly fashionable finish now so much in vogue.

With Linit you can have your shirt waists look like new. The children can have their garments finished in the daintiest style, equal to the most beautiful French finish.

Major Walter R. Jeyes, Commander of Gen. Adelbert Ames Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, and Senior Vice Commander John F. McBride, Snapped at Depot Before Entraining for Boston This Noon.

Boys of '98

remembrances among themselves and comrades of Gen. Adelbert Ames Camp, S. W. V., who also mobilized there, they walked to the depot. Two special coaches were attached to regular down train of the White Mountains division which brought them to Boston.
Members of Company M departed by truck, leaving earlier than their comrades who preferred rail transportation. The post-together at the armory provided an auspicious start for what promised to be a memorable day. Many old comrades of the days of '98 met for the first time in years. Even to those who meet daily there was a certain charm to the gathering for it provided the atmosphere lacking in daily business or social contact.
General Beazton got all hands together for a group picture in the armory steps before the start to Boston was made. To all it brought back remembrances of day, twenty-five years ago this month, when the Lowell companies returned home from federal duty.
The group of men today, mostly in civilian, well groomed, many content, all looking the picture of fine, happy, prosperous American business men, presented a strong contrast to the grizzled, bronzed, athletic groups of American youths who with rhythmic tread a quarter of a century ago returned to Lowell, to peace, happiness and contentment.
Of the number that marched through Lowell streets a quarter of a century ago this month a greater number than those which assembled today have stood their last formation. In the some tenor of Lowell today there are marked graves of 135 Spanish war veterans. Some of course were not members of the Lowell companies of the old Sixth regiment but the majority were. The number of veterans buried here, not members of the Lowell companies of the Sixth would probably be balanced by the number of Lowell Sixth regiment veterans buried in other cities.

But today thoughts turned only for a moment to those who have answered "Here" to the call of the Commander of the day. The day was a festive one and called for the spirit of camaraderie, of general pleasant recollections, and cheerful remembrance of golden friendships. Said business manners of every day were thrown to winds as all hands, officers and men of the old days alike, were "boys" again for the day.
Hon. Charles H. Allen, distinguished Lowell citizen who served as assistant secretary of the navy from 1898 to 1909 and afterwards as governor of Porto Rico, joined the veterans for a few minutes at the depot and was warmly received. He did not make the trip to Boston but could not resist the desire to spend a few minutes in talking with these Lowell men like himself who gave during the days of the Spanish war every ounce of their patriotism, their devotion, their energy and their efforts to the flag and the cause.
Upon arrival in Boston the companies fell in line on Commonwealth avenue with other companies of the old Sixth Mass., many of which had already arrived. The several regiments of the state, the Naval brigade and the camps of Spanish War Veterans all formed in Commonwealth avenue.
Major General Edmund J. Clark of Springfield, retired, former colonel of the 2d Massachusetts Infantry, was chief marshal for the parade. As aides he had Major General Nelson A. Miles, retired, honorary chief of staff, Major A. R. Reynolds and Major Charles C. Foster, M.G.
The parade started at 2 o'clock and was reviewed at city hall by Mayor James M. Curley and at the state house by Governor Channing H. Cox. Many of the veterans stayed over for the night and plan to return to Lowell in early train tomorrow but the majority will return late tonight.

ACTION BY MIXED CLAIMS COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Early action by the mixed claims commission on American claims against Germany, growing out of the sinking of the Lusitania, was forecast by an order issued today, which requires submission by the American and German agents of all Lusitania claims by Nov. 15. Those received later may go by default.
Delay in receipt of affidavits and other evidence from American claimants in the Lusitania case was said to be responsible for the order. American claims in the Lusitania group already have been argued before the commission but evidence has not been submitted in a large number of small claims.
The members responsible for the Lusitania case were: Frank J. Minahan, Albert E. Hahn, Fred Stowell, Robert R. Thomas, Daniel J. Sullivan, Edward R. Hart, Frank Kelly, Edward P. Saunders, Frank A. Groves and John V. Donoghue.

Ford Assailed Weeks for Action in Sale of One of Muscle Shoals Plant

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Secretary Weeks carried into today's cabinet meeting the statement issued in Detroit last night by Henry Ford, assailing the war secretary for his action in the sale of the Gorgas Steam Power plant, a part of the Muscle Shoals, Ala., properties—to the Alabama Power Co.
Mr. Weeks, prior to the cabinet meeting, refused all requests for comment on the statement in which Mr. Ford declared that political influence working through the war secretary had prevented him from obtaining the Muscle Shoals properties and would continue to prevent his acquisition of the Alabama plant.
Officials close to Mr. Weeks indicated that he resented the statement of the Detroit manufacturer and considered it sufficiently grave to take up directly with the president.
Mr. Coolidge is known to be thoroughly in accord with the action taken by the war department in selling the Gorgas plant to the Alabama Power Co. for $3,472,480. The position of the president, as it has been stated at the White House, is that Mr. Ford be given every opportunity to buy and lease the Muscle Shoals property and that his offer, still before congress, has not been affected by the sale of Gorgas plant.
